

Yip Yat-Yin, his wife and son leave Hong Kong for Red China after the British said they could not stay.

Chinese Try To Stop Return Of Refugees

... CHILDREN THROWN BEFORE TRUCKS

Hong Kong (P)—Angry Chinese villagers thrust their own children into the path of a truck convoy Monday to try to halt forced repatriation of refugees to Red China.

Truck drivers slammed on their brakes but two children were knocked down and injured slightly. Then the crowd fell upon a British policeman and beat him before a police riot squad arrived and restored order.

First Violence

This was the first violence in the sad drama of Hong Kong, where the British say the hungry streaming in from Red China must be sent back because the colony can accommodate no more.

On Sunday, Chinese residents booed police who forced the return of the wife and 7-year-old son of Yip Yat-Yin, a metal worker who fled Red China several years ago. The wife and child had arrived in the latest group of Chinese eluding British border guards.

Chinese residents also have lined the routes to the border, encouraging the refugees to leap from trucks and get lost in the crowds.

But Monday's incident was the first attempt at force by the Chinese here, many of them as poor as the refugees themselves. It occurred on a narrow road north of Hong Kong where Chinese villagers had gathered on the convoy's route.

Drew Gun

Witnesses said that after the convoy ground to a halt, the policeman stooped over to examine the two children who were knocked down. As he straightened up, the crowd surged forward and began to beat him. The policeman drew his pistol from his holster and the crowd fell back. Witnesses said the officer never raised his gun.

A police riot squad quickly moved into the area, dispersed the crowd and arrested 3 Chinese news photographers. A Hong Kong government spokesman confirmed the arrests but did not reveal the charges.

One of the arrested photographers was P. C. Lee, a Hong Kong Tiger Standard cameraman. He took the now famous picture of a crying 19-year-old girl refugee, Lee Ying, after she was caught by police and told she would be sent back to China.

A source close to the police department expressed fear the incident might be a prelude to more trouble.

"The refugees, encouraged and egged on by local residents in the area, are becoming more and more truculent," he said. "Many locals are trying to obstruct the roundup and return operations and are heaping vocal abuse upon police and troops who are only carrying out their orders."

City To Proceed With $2 Million Bond Issue

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

The City Council Monday agreed to proceed with a proposed $2 million water revenue bond issue under a favorable legal opinion by Woods, King, Dawson and Logan of New York.

The New York bond attorney firm advised that the proposed water bonds can be issued under the 1959 charter amendment in a requested opinion received Monday by City Atty. Ralph Nelson.

The council immediately directed Finance Director James Mallon and Nelson to begin necessary detail work leading to the bond issue.

Key Study

This will include a key study for revision of the city water rate schedule to provide sufficient revenue for debt service on the additional bonds.

Presently outstanding is $8.5 million in water bonds issued under the authorization of a 1953 charter amendment.

Details include development of a bond resolution in consultation with the New York attorneys, preparation of a revised water rate ordinance based on engineering and financial studies and development of a bond prospectus.

Fiscal Agent

Mallon suggested that First Nebraska Securities of Lincoln be retained as fiscal agent in the preparation of the bond prospectus.

Public Works Director D. L. Erickson said his department is "very anxious to get the $2 million water bond issued so engineering and some construction work can proceed on some 32 needed projects."

Erickson said the bonds should be issued for a "blanket amount, like before, and then work can proceed on individual projects."

Main Extension

One of the top priority projects is a proposed $180,000 water main extension to the West O area being annexed June 1.

Other projects would extend water service to expanding residential areas, several industrial areas, and beef up areas of the existing system.

The Woods, King, Dawson and Logan opinion said the 1953 charter amendment "is simply on authorization to issue $8.5 million of water bonds and does not purport to be a denial of the right to issue further water revenue bonds under any other provision of the charter or of the general laws."

Eliminated Need

By the provisions of the 1959 amendment as enacted by the voters, the opinion said, the city "obviously determined to provide for a general authorization of revenue bonds, thereby eliminating need for a vote on each separate issue."

The New York opinion was requested by the council after an unfavorable and delayed opinion from Chapman and Cutler, Chicago bond attorney firm.

Chapman and Cutler recently advised the 1953 charter amendment for $8.5 million water bonds was not repealed in effect by the later-adopted 1959 charter amendment of general authorization.

Tilden Hit By Winds

By The Associated Press

Five or six persons were hospitalized with minor injuries Monday night after a tornado hit Tilden, Neb., west of Norfolk.

The twister did considerable damage to the business district and southwest part of town. The roof and one wall of the Catholic church were destroyed.

Power lines were down and there was no telephone communication.

Warn Sightseers

The State Patrol said sightseers were being warned to stay out of Tilden and roads were being blocked off.

Meadow Grove firemen hurried to Tilden to assist in clearing up the debris.

The tiny community of 1,000 received advance warning of the twister's approach from the Norfolk Weather Bureau. Residents were alerted by the fire siren and the fire department which toured the town in the fire truck to warn citizens.

Hit Farm 1st

The tornado first struck at the Otto Eggers farm south of town, then swept into the community.

Among the damaged homes and buildings were the Carl Knievel home where the family escaped injury, the Garrison Tavern and the telephone company office, both of which lost roofs, the House Oil Co. and the Corplek Farm Supply Co.

Another Twister

The State Patrol also reported that another twister touched down in the Spencer, Neb., area in northern Boyd County.

The North Platte Weather Bureau received a report of a damaging windstorm which hit Ogallala Monday evening, shattering plate glass windows and toppling trees.

At Grand Island, a brief storm left stones of 3/4ths to 1/4th inch in diameter.

Hartington Hit

What appeared to be a small twister hit Hartington in northeast Nebraska, blowing out numerous windows in the business district, damaging two or three business houses and causing damage to some homes.

There were no injuries reported. Among the business houses hit were a supermarket, a hardware store and a clothing store.

A thunderstorm dumped one inch of rain and considerable hail on Wisner in 15 minutes.

Antelope Creek Dam Seen As Park Center

... BY NU ARCHITECTURE STUDENTS

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

An eye-appealing use of Antelope Creek Dam as the nucleus for a scenic "activity park" was unveiled Monday by a group of University of Nebraska architecture students.

The plan was one of 8 student group projects for recreation facilities outlined to a selected jury of architects, landscape architects and recreation experts.

The Antelope Dam proposal would include a host of park activities, such as a golf course, swimming pool, tennis courts, outdoor theater, bridal path, game areas, picnic grounds and parking lots.

4-Jet Fountain

Perhaps the most spectacular single feature of the detailed plan is a 4-jet water fountain located near the dam's spillway. It would be illuminated with colored lights at night.

Antelope Dam—the first of 12 large Salt-Wahoo Watershed District reservoirs—is now under construction near 62nd and Van Dorn.

The 100-acre horseshoe-shaped lake will boast a 2 1/2-mile shoreline.

Extend Parkway

The student team—headed by Charles Randolph of Lincoln—suggested that Capitol Parkway ultimately be extended to link the dam to the heart of the city.

A scenic drive would wind its way throughout the park itself.

Two boat docks were proposed—and a ban on power-driven craft. Limiting use of the lake to canoes and rowboats would help preserve the peaceful characteristics of the landscape, it was noted.

On Larger Lakes

Power-motored boats could use two larger Salt-Wahoo dams near Lincoln, the students pointed out.

Another eye-catching feature of the plan would mount several old columns from the former 23rd and O park area on high ground at the dam site.

Meanwhile, another student group proposed a program of youth hostels to provide overnight housing for young tourists traveling the state by bicycle, motorcycle or by hitchhiking.

Nebraska's youth—particularly teenagers—have been "overlooked and forgotten" in recreation programming for the future, group leader W. E. Johnson of Omaha explained.

The hostels could house up to 40 persons and include dormitory, dining, classroom and recreational facilities.

Other projects included developing tourism at the Omaha

Warns Next Step To Be Socialism

New York (P)—Leaders of the American Medical Association Monday denounced President Kennedy's medical-care-for-the-aged plan as a "cruel hoax" aimed at establishing "welfare state medicine" for everyone.

"Don't mistake it," an association official declared in a paid, nationally televised reply to Kennedy.

"England's nationalized medical program is the kind of thing they have in mind for us eventually."

The AMA representatives said the public was in danger of being "blitzed, brainwashed and bandwagoned into swallowing" a plan that would disrupt health services and turn individual patients into impersonal "numbers."

The plan would cover millions who don't need it and ignore millions of others who do, said the medical group's spokesman, Dr. Edward R. Annis, of Miami, Fla., the main speaker. He added:

"Our fees are not involved. Our practice of quality medicine is. Your health is."

'Consult Doctor'

In an impassioned plea, he urged viewers to consult the "one they know and trust—your doctor" about what the Kennedy plan would do to American medicine.

"There are only a few things which touch so close to God... and the relationship between a doctor and his patient is one of them," he said, charging that the Kennedy plan seeks to undermine it.

The doctors' reply to Kennedy was filmed in a curiously ironic setting.

It was in Madison Square Garden, the same place where Kennedy Sunday addressed a cheering crowd in a plea for support for his administration's proposals to the aged through Social Security.

Empty Arena

But instead of a crowd scene for a backdrop, the

The views of the American Medical Association on the King-Anderson Medicare bill are contrasted with those of President Kennedy on page 9.

AMA spokesmen appeared in an empty, silent arena, its vast expanse littered with paper, broken balloons and decorations left from the Kennedy rally.

Dr. Leonard Y. Larson, of Bismarck, N.D., association president, said the administration's program would deprive older people of "the American system of medicine, based upon the private doctor treating the private patient."

In the last 20 years alone, he said, this system has "added 10 years to the life of every American."

An association spokesman estimated cost of the show, carried on paid time over the National Broadcasting Co. network, at $75,000. The group had asked for equal time to reply to Kennedy's half-hour address, but was turned down.

Kennedy's speech was carried free.

Budget Unit Plans Monthly Meetings

By BETTY PERSON

The Legislative Council Budget Committee indicated Monday it will hold monthly meetings with the Department of Institutions to try to iron out problems arising from a misundersanding on revenue due the department from special county levies.

It was established at Monday's day-long meeting that the old Board of Control had failed to tell the 1961 Budget Committee that the Board's estimates of revenue from the county levies included an increase in the billings to the counties.

The special levies from the counties represents the actual per diem costs for care of a county's patients in the 3 state mental hospitals and the Beatrice Home.

Labor, Industry Urged To Pull Together

CRITICISM DRAWN BY KENNEDY

... At Economic Meet

By STERLING F. GREEN
Washington (P)—President Kennedy appealed personally Monday to industry and labor leaders to "drop party labels" and pitch in to help the government solve crucial economic problems.

"There is no presidential election until 1964," Kennedy told the 200 conferees he brought here for a town-meeting approach to the issues of wage-price stability, economic growth and the payments deficit.

But the opening session of his two-day "White House conference on economic issues" spotlighted more conflicts than agreements, including these:

Keener Leads Off
An industry spokesman, J. Ward Keener, president of the B. F. Goodrich Co., urged the breakup of industry-wide wage bargaining and denounced the administration's guidelines for non-inflationary wage bargaining as "impractical and unwise."

2. AFL-CIO President
George Meany accused management of failing, in practice, to live up to its formally avowed support of free collective bargaining; and of resisting federal programs which would create new jobs and income.

Kennedy suggested that the foremost objective of both industry and labor should be to co-operate in raising the national output so that there would be more to share among workers, management and stockholders. He said:

"If we can operate this economy at full blast, then the division that comes out of that full blast is going to be a much easier task."

It became clear quickly that Kennedy would get the kind of free-for-all barrage of gripes, criticisms and suggestions he invited. Three former cabinet officers of the Eisenhower administration were on hand—Secretary of the Treasury George M. Humphrey, Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell, and Secretary of Welfare Marion Folsom.

"If you don't like our proposals," Kennedy said, in specific reference to his tax program, "what are your suggestions—and what are they specifically, not in a general way."

"Most of us are conditioned for many years to have a political viewpoint, Republican or Democratic—liberal, conservative, moderate," he went on.

Army PX's Might Add Stock Broker

Washington (P)—The Army is considering the question of allowing U.S. stock broker offices to be set up at overseas bases, similar to the system already used by the Air Force, a spokesman said Monday.

Advocates of the plan say it could influence, in some degree, the effort to hold down the spending of U.S. dollars by servicemen for articles abroad.

If the money is used for investments in stocks it would be diverted from the outflow of gold which contributes to monetary imbalance.

Such investments also foster money saving by servicemen, advocates say.

The procedure used by the Army presumably would be similar to that of the Air Force under which brokerage offices are operated by concession, at post exchanges.

McNamara Raps Chief Of Guard

In Reorganizing Feud

Washington (UPI)—Defense Secretary McNamara Monday sent a hotly-worded telegram to the politically powerful National Guard Association defending his plan for reorganizing Army Reserve forces.

Assailing Guard opposition, he said, "I will not recommend any expenditures which do not fully meet the test of military need."

He told Guard Association President Gen. William H. Harrison Jr.: "Those recommended by you do not."

It was the latest round in a running battle between McNamara and Reserve Force leaders over his scheme for reorganizing the reserves, cutting their size and cost and, he claims, keying them more closely to war plans of the active forces. The Reserve Force constitute both the National Guard and the Organized Army Reserve.

Frontier Airlines Monday officially filed its appeal with the State Supreme Court to the State Railway Commission's ruling that it resume service on segment 13 of its northern Nebraska route by June 6.

Gen. Richardson Setting Up Thai Headquarters

... Greatest Hazard To U.S. Troops Is Snakes

By TONY ESCODA

Khorat, Thailand (P)—Lt. Gen. James L. Richardson Jr., Nebraska-born commander of the growing U.S. forces charged with guarding Thailand against communist incursions from Laos, is setting up his headquarters under canvas here Tuesday.

A military spokesman announced the choice of this Thai staging area for the command post after Richardson held his first meeting—under a tree—with officers of the units that make up his joint task force.

The unit commanders include Brig. Gen. Ormand Simpson, head of the 1,800-man Marine expeditionary force which landed last Thursday, and Col. William McKean, who heads the 1st Battle Group, 27th Infantry, which has about 1,500 men here and more coming.

The task force, designated No. 116, has Air Force units attached. The aircraft include jet fighters and helicopters.

The spokesman said a brigadier general is to arrive from Honolulu soon to take charge of the Army troops. This was taken as an indication that the size of U.S. Army force here will be increased from one battle group to possibly two.

The Marine force is based at a camp near the northeastern Thai town of Udorn, 350 air miles northeast of Bangkok and only about 30 miles south of the Laotian border.

Tents for Richardson's headquarters are to spring up

Disarm Plan Said To Be Near Treason

Dallas, U.P.—Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., said Monday he thinks President Kennedy's Geneva disarmament proposals border on treason. He charged that the administration was already engaged in unilateral disarmament.

Speaking at a luncheon meeting of a Dallas public affairs group, Goldwater said the Kennedy disarmament proposal was "full of cute little jokers."

When a man asked if he thought the plan "broached on treason," Goldwater said "yes."

"I am not a lawyer," he said, "but when you take an oath of office to do something—defend the Constitution—and don't do it, if that is treason, then that's it."

He said the administration already is engaged in one-sided disarmament through discontinuation of the RS70 atom-powered aircraft program and proposed cuts in the National Guard.

"As much as we may wish it," Goldwater said, "disarmament is just not practical so long as we face a government that has announced time and time again that it is going to bury us."

Flying Bike For 2 Gets Off Land—Barely

London (P)—A flying bicycle built for two was unveiled Monday at the British Air Ministry.

A man-powered helicopter named "The Cyclopter," it is operated by two men pumping furiously on two sets of pedals which turn a 20-foot, two-bladed overhead rotor.

Best performance so far: One inch off the ground.

At the point, to date, the pedalers have run out of steam. But inventor Spencer Bailey, a warrant officer in the Royal Air Force, is confident the contraption will fly higher with more muscle.

Bailey, 48, said he tried out his invention several times before entering it in the annual Royal Air Force arts and handicrafts exhibition at the Air Ministry.

He and a partner put it through its paces inside the hall Sunday just to make sure it was still working. He commented afterward:

"There was quite an audience. I pedaled like mad, then I pushed the control lever."

"It was just as well I didn't shoot into the air. That could have done a bit of damage inside the hall."

The cyclopter, made of bicycle frames, weighing 104 pounds and costing $126 to build, is entered in a competition for which London industrialist Henry Kremer has offered 5,000 pounds ($14,000) for the first man-powered flight of a mile.

Other man-powered aircraft have been entered in the contest.

First is the Puffin, which with John Wimpenny at the controls holds the present record for man-powered flight of over a mile, and second is a machine designed by a group of Southampton aeronautical engineers. It has flown 650 yards.

She Has Nothing To Wear—Really

Los Angeles (P)—"I need clothing because I just don't have any," a red-haired supper club hostess testified. "And when I say I don't have any, I don't mean like when other women say, 'I don't have a thing to wear.' I don't have a thing to wear except the dress I have on."

The shoes, coat, necklace and underwear she wore, Mrs. Mary Kantor, 33, told Superior Court Commissioner John Alexander, she had borrowed from her roommate, Miss Jeanan Mager, a hair stylist.

Only her black sheath dress was hers, said Mrs. Kantor. Alexander awarded her $100 weekly temporary support.

She and Harry Kantor, 38, owner of a sports publication, are suing each other for divorce. Each charges cruelty.

Tersely Told Tales

Washington (UPI)—A real estate group said Monday a nationwide search has revealed that a 94-year-old woman is the oldest homesteader in the country.

Algers (P)—Troops making a house to house search in an Algers suburb found the mutilated bodies of 8 Europeans in an abandoned farmhouse Monday night. Soldiers said the structure, fitted out with 3 built-in cells, appeared to be a Moslem torture chamber.

Gettysburg, Pa. (P)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower underscored Monday his opposition to President Kennedy's medical help plan. And he disputed hotly his successor's gibe that Republicans don't stand for anything constructive.

Heavy Rains Force Highway South Of Rushville Closed

Nebraska Highway 250 south of Rushville was closed to traffic Monday because of damage to bridge approaches from heavy weekend rains, State Maintenance Engineer John McMeekin reported.

McMeekin said the excessive rains washed out the south approach to a bridge across Rush Creek 2½ miles south of Rushville, besides damaging the north approach, and the span will be closed to traffic until further notice.

Water was still too high for repair work Monday, he said.

Once the water recedes, "we will need about two days to fill in the approaches," he added.

"There is no apparent damage to the bridge," he added.

Contempt Of Congress Convictions Reversed

... Based On Technicality; Strong Dissent

Washington (P)—The Supreme Court reversed Monday the convictions of 6 men sentenced to prison and fined for refusing to answer questions asked by congressional red hunters.

The decision was based on a legal technicality and brought strong dissents from Justices John M. Harlan and Tom C. Clark. They expressed concern that the ruling would hamper legitimate congressional inquiry.

Each case was decided on one question, said Justice Potter Stewart, speaking for the majority:

"The grand jury failed to identify the subject under congressional subcommittee inquiry at the time the witness was interrogated."

Thus, the court for the first time, he said, has laid down such a specific requirement for contempt of Congress prosecutions. The high tribunal previously had declared that Congress has broad powers to investigate subversion and to cite balking witnesses for contempt.

But the court did not rule on a broad constitutional question raised in the appeals: Whether quizzing into the personal affairs of the 6 defendants violated their guarantee of freedom of speech and press.

However, a concurring opinion by Justice William O. Douglas, said "the theory of our free society is that government must be neutral when it comes to the press."

In the dissents, Harlan and Clark both said the decision would encourage balking at questions. Harlan called the ruling a "sudden holding."

The Power And Glory

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Fine lines are drawn through many things and not the least of these is excessive pride. Those who lack pride leave much to be desired in themselves but when you reach the fine point where you have the pride that is needed, yet have not gone to excess in confidence in yourself? The question can and does include many facets of life, many individuals, many groups and even nations. National pride is essential but it, too, can be carried to a harmful extreme.

In the past few days President Kennedy has spoken in strong terms about the responsibility that this nation intends to exercise in world affairs.

Wide Area Of Difference

He bluntly informed our allies that so long as we were picking up the tab on so many fronts, we were also going to be calling the shots in equal proportion. At the same time, President De Gaulle of France spoke out against U.S. negotiations with Russia over the future of Germany, of the firm commitment of his nation to nuclear capability and of the destiny for greatness that is France's. Some will say that if De Gaulle is wrong, then Kennedy, too, is incorrect in his position. They will say that De Gaulle is no more arrogant and unco-operative than Kennedy has said we will be.

But this is not exactly the case. The difference lies in the relative positions of the two nations as well as their approach to the objectives they have set forth. The United States is not proceeding as it is through any choice of its own. The fact is that we would very much like to be a nation by itself without the burden of responsibility for world leadership.

The fact is, also, that we realize we cannot be so individualistic. To do so would be to give up the kind of life and political system that we have cultivated. To salvage that which we want requires that we take an active part in protecting our own interests. At the same time, we are protecting the interests of our allies.

President Kennedy has said that we will never pull out of Europe so long as our allies there want us. Immediately, this implies our willingness to assume a burden for the welfare of someone other than ourselves. But France is unable to assume this burden and this is where De Gaulle is making his mistake. It is his inability to face reality that causes him to dream of days of grandeur for France. France isn't destined to be a second-rate nation by any means but she can't call the shots of worldwide relationships between East and West.

and still be dependent upon others. She cannot be at the helm of things by word alone and without the action that this requires.

This has been a historic mistake of the nation. In the Suez crisis of a few years ago, it almost brought the world to disaster. It has cost her bitterly over a long period of years in Algeria and has had an important bearing on the state of her economy. It is reflecting itself once again in her approach to the Common Market, on nuclear power and in her relations with other NATO members. De Gaulle's attitude is not based on reality but on the dream that France is the greatest of all nations on the earth.

Her national pride is to be envied but it needs to be tempered with the state of affairs as they actually exist. The day is gone when any nation can afford to be an entity into itself. The United States recognizes this, as does England, but France has never come around to that point of view. If the U.S. followed De Gaulle's theory, it would be a fortress unto itself and that would be the end of its responsibility.

By developing her own nuclear power, France is expending an energy and sacrificing her economy to a proposition that will be of no benefit to the West. And other than pride, it will be of no benefit to France herself. The nuclear capacity of the U.S., whether ahead or behind that of Russia, is more than adequate to dispose of any future nuclear war.

By the time the nuclear capacity of the U.S. had been exhausted, there would be no need for any additional capacity as the world would already have been destroyed.

Against Our Wishes

If the French people dedicate themselves to the pursuit of goals regardless of the position of her allies, she will be working against her own best interest, just as we would be if we did only those things that seemed to please us the most. We are not in Southeast Asia because we want to be, nor did we mobilize a sizable civilian force to meet the threat in Germany because we simply like a large military group.

De Gaulle seems to forget that France is not the only nation which is called upon to do things which may not be in complete harmony with her desires. France seeks complete independence in a world where such a thing has become impossible. Strong nationalism is an essential characteristic for any people but so is the willingness to see how the meaning of this nationalism can best be served.

Homestead: No Bargain

The nation's stamp collectors absorbed more than one third of the million and a half Homestead Commemorative issue placed on sale at Beatrice last weekend in connection with the opening of the 100th anniversary of the National Homestead Act.

Why at Beatrice? Because a short distance northwest of that pioneer town there is the piece of ground taken by the late Daniel Freeman under the first patent issued under the law, January 1, 1863. It is now a national park and fittingly so because it is representative of all the homesteads. In that sense it describes the true beginning of the development of this region.

Those who view this centennial observance without a grasp of history may wonder whether America is in true character celebrating what appears to them to have been one of the government's gigantic "giveaways." They will note that these beautiful and productive farms of the day went to the homesteaders for less than a hundredth of their value. What, they may ask, is so inspiring about grabbing such a bargain? They miss the point.

It was not a good bargain. Rather it was a great challenge. The price in dollars was small, but the bill included something else. It asked also a lifetime of hard living without a guarantee of any gain. It asked for nation building at a price we may ask ourselves whether today we would be willing to pay it. Few of those homesteaders got more than a hard life out of their effort. Many did not make it. History does not name them and no monument rises for them, even as that granted to soldiers who died in their war. But together they all did the job and we, rather than they, became the great beneficiaries. As rough and as hard up as they were we must recognize that they had a sense of history. They were not afraid to go out and make it come true.

Try The Right People

The McClellan Senate subcommittee which did such an effective job on big labor now has the assignment to investigate the matter of Billy Sol Estes, the Texas rocket that went out of orbit.

Essentially this will not be so much an examination of Estes operations as a general examination of serious flaws in the federal farm program, namely the corruption that seems inevitable when a public program gets so big and complicated that corrupters can go to work on it.

Whether the investigators intend it or not the investigation will take on political color. This is an election year. It will be difficult for the public to keep it in mind that infractions did not start with the present administration, but go back far enough to involve both major parties. It will also be difficult to distinguish between uncorrupted operators receiving large sums from the agriculture department and those which did operate questionably. Bigness in this case does not constitute prima facie evidence of wrong doing.

But possibly the more serious aspect of the investigation will be found in to what degree the revelations cause a loss of confidence in the government's efforts to remedy the farm problem. Back of all this are several million farmers who are not guilty of racketeering and who actually need public sympathy and help. They should not be made the fall guys.

There should be vigorous punishment of wrong doers, but equal care that agriculture in general is not made the defendant in the action.

Oak Creek Tragedy

No words can describe the sense of tragedy that was felt by all the people of Lincoln when three West Lincoln children drowned in Oak Creek Sunday afternoon. This is the kind of thing that leaves a community stunned — stunned with the loss of three young lives and with the frustration of helplessness. Such disasters can never be fully understood nor their sorrow completely forgotten.

What might have been is always a thought but every turn of fate in this world cannot be fully anticipated and dealt with. If only these three youngsters had not decided to go wading — but they did. They waded in the creek just as youngsters have done from the beginning of time and as they will continue to do for the rest of time.

They waded in the creek just as young boys and girls ride their bicycles on busy streets, as they cross an intersection without looking, as they try to make friends with a dangerous animal, as they light a match in curiosity, as they tug at the pot boiling on the stove and as they do the hundreds of other things that place them in danger or get them into trouble.

No parent is ever free of the worry that accompanies the rearing of children. No parent can ever be sure that his or her counseling has been understood and, more important, appreciated. Who can say what eventuality it is that needs attention today? That which you guard against most may be the last thing ever to present a challenge and that which has been least in your mind may be of great future significance. In our sorrow and our sympathy over the tragedy, of the weekend, we can only hope and pray that circumstances are not soon so cruel again and make every effort to do what we can to guarantee this.

Army Lenient With Big Stars

WASHINGTON — Some army commanders seem to regard baseball as the nation's most essential civilian occupation.

They have been granting "emergency" leave for professional ball players to join their teams, yet turning down the applications of most other seasonal workers, including farmers.

Those players who are not on leave usually get extra time off to play ball at camp. At Fort Meade, Md., for instance, players are issued "special duty orders," permitting them to spend their afternoons at baseball practice instead of military duties.

When the team goes on the road to play at other camps, they are assigned to full-time "temporary duty" playing baseball.

Yet Fort Meade's baseball coach and star pitcher, Wynn Hawkins, was granted emergency leave to rejoin the Cleveland Indians after pitching only two games for good old Fort Meade.

The same thing happened to Fort Belvoir's coach, pitcher, Jim "Mudcat" Grant, who was also released to pitch for the Cleveland Indians while his army team struggled along without him.

The Baltimore Orioles' star shortstop, Roy Halladay, hasn't yet picked up a bat for Fort Meade. He was granted a 30-day leave to play with the Orioles at the opening of the baseball season, then was given a 30-day extension which runs out this month.

All the Fort Meade team has gotten out of him is a promise to play — provided of course, that he can't get another 30-day extension.

Shortly after Hansen was granted extended leave, another Fort Meade shortstop was turned down when he applied for more time off to play professional baseball.

He is Reuben Amaro who came to this country from his native Mexico to play baseball and ended up instead in the U.S. Army.

He has had a showful time, indeed, since he worked in 1959 to play shortstop for the Philadelphia Phillies. His request for permanent residence made him eligible for the draft.

The Phillies advised him to join the reserves instead. He signed up for six months' training which took him out of baseball uniform and put him in Army uniform for the first half of the 1960 season.

Then he was caught in the emergency call-up last October and shipped to Camp Pickett, Va. Because of his dark skin, the people of Virginia refused to serve him in restaurants and treated him like anything but a baseball hero.

After his transfer to Fort Meade, he was granted leave to play with the Phillies. He couldn't get an extension as did Hansen, however, although the Phillies desperately need his services.

GOP Takes Hope From Primaries

WASHINGTON — New York Democrats gave President Kennedy lots of love and money last weekend but failed to come up with stylish candidates to cut Gov. Rockefeller down to size next fall.

Nobody seems to be able to pinpoint the cause of this extraordinary failure to grow a candidate crop in soil so rich in cash, numbers and creative vigor. The big city bosses were long the chosen scapegoat, but their waning power was mercilessly exposed in the mayoralty election last year.

New York is of course the prize place to make money but even so, a New York governor is automatically considered in both parties to be next in line for president so the competition of politics cannot be rated as negligible.

It has never been a strong possibility that Senator Goldwater would win acceptance as a presidential nominee from the powerhouses of the party, despite his popularity. He too must make a real choice of risks, for his term expires in 1964 and the word is that he will seek re-election to the Senate.

The recent primaries gave the party out of power some grounds for fresh hope, particularly Pennsylvania. It has seemed to Republican technicians that they could not make a real comeback nationally until they could get back Pennsylvania to help balance off New York and California.

In Rep. William Scranton, a millionaire first-term congressman, they have an attractive candidate for governor whose roots in the state are deep. They had to force the going with him and he himself was originally reluctant, but they feel encouraged by the vote he got.

In Richardson Dilworth, reform mayor of Philadelphia, who at last managed to get the Democratic nomination, Scranton has formidable opposition. A victory would put the spotlight on Scranton in earnest. Everything would depend then on how he managed the state in the one four-year term it allows a governor.

Ohio already looked good to Republicans because Gov. DiSalle was having trouble. In the primary DiSalle's troubles were clearly reflected in a reclamation vote of barely more than half the total cast. This usually suggests fresh woe in November.

Nebraska was kind to a former Eisenhower cabinet member, Fred Seaton. He must run against an able Democratic incumbent, Gov. Morrison, but the state is usually Republican.

The big one, California, is still nearly 3 weeks away. Late reports show Joseph Shell gaining on Richard Nixon for the Republican nomination, but not yet dangerously. The question is whether the party will close ranks around Nixon after June 5.

The over-all trend in primary voting continues to be public liking for fresh new faces, a disenchantment with the old.

Patchwork Prairie Country

How the wind does blow! There used to be a saying that maybe if the wind blew long enough, it would "blow up a rain." So far the wind has blown up nothing but dust. It frays the nerves and begins to raise some doubts in the minds of those who remember the dry 'thirties.

We have heard of some farmers who are irrigating their fields to get the corn to sprout. It seems almost unbelievable that there is not enough moisture at this time of year to get the corn to come up out of the ground. The farmer is waiting for a rain before he puts any seed into the ground, but the way the wind is blowing tonight, it would blow the kernels of corn right out, anyway.

May should be a month of placid spring days with rainbows and gentle breezes whispering through the green willows. Nights should be calm and mornings when you can "hear the corn grow" should greet you. But surely there will be something good to say about May instead of the terrific heat wave, the wind and dust.

Maybe it will be the young graduates who leave the school days behind them who will give dignity and new hope to May. One just can't argue with frilly dresses and that dreamy faraway look in the eye.

It may be the iris bursting into bloom, making a show place of the garden.

All families have their episodes to laugh at and looking back at them now makes them seem even more hilarious. Several years ago when Blue Jeans was in the "tooth-pulling" stage, he very bravely decided to tie a string around his tooth and to a doorknob. That had been the way his friend at school had pulled his tooth. He tried — my, how he tried to be brave, but it seemed every time he pushed the door open, he lost his nerve and followed the door.

He was almost ready to give up for lack of courage and was standing by the door ready to untie the string from the tooth when his little sister came running through the house. With a great wide sweep she banged the door open. To the utter amazement of Blue Jeans he saw his tooth dangling by a string from the knob.

Fresh asparagus tastes just as delicious this spring as it did last spring. Creamed or buttered, we really aren't particular so long as the tender spears are not covered by exotic sauces that can take the good taste of asparagus away and leave only an imitation.

I planted some new asparagus roots this year. It is something I have wanted to do every year. The old bed of asparagus never seemed to be large enough for our spring appetites.

The big pond hasn't been quite so noisy lately. It has gone down considerably and the geese and ducks have left. Not a peeper can be heard. In fact, I suppose there is nothing to peep about — and a frog never croaks.

After a big rain, it becomes alive with jumping, noisy creatures. I have missed the early evenings of "pond serenading." Some past spring evenings after a big rain, we have listened to the din of voices and it sounded quite musical to our ears. Perhaps it was musical because it made us feel extra fortunate to get the rain. With the last raindrops dripping from the leaves of the trees, the ditches running with water and a fresh, new smell to the air, the evenings seemed complete. The croaking of frogs and toads made it seem as if our home was a houseboat. They sounded so near and seemed so close in around the corners of our dwelling.

If I hear so much as a croak this year, I think I must first catch a frog. But even they are not venturing far from their water habitat. They may get caught on a hot, windy day, such as we have been having and shrivel into nothing before they see the setting sun again.

AMA's Position

Lincoln, Neb.

Before anybody grabs the propaganda bait put out by the American and local medical associations, there are some facts he should familiarize himself with:

Fact 1: The dead Forand Bill, the predecessor of the King-Anderson Bill (medical care for aged bill, paid for by $1 per month maximum increase in the Social Security tax), was killed because the doctors' organization (AMA) objected bitterly about provisions in the Forand Bill for payment of doctor bills and hospital benefits starting with the first day of confinement. They wanted no part of their payment through Uncle Sam's hands. They screamed that every old person with a headache or other trivial ailment would run to the hospital for free and there would be no room for the seriously ill.

Fact 2: The King-Anderson Bill was drawn to remove these two objections of the AMA. It will pay for hospital, nursing and nursing home care and medicine but the patient will have to pay the first $90 of a hospital room to eliminate filling up the beds with people who are not ill enough to be there.

Fact 3: Now the AMA is reportedly spending $1.5 million in an advertising campaign against the King-Anderson Bill. They are pointing out that there are no payments for doctors provided for and that old people will have to pay the first $90 of the charge for hospital rooms. They are asking everyone to write to Chairman Wilbur Mills of the House Ways and Means Committee asking the committee to kill the King-Anderson Bill because it eliminates what they (the AMA) wanted eliminated.

Their inconsistency is so glaring that it should be obvious to all that the AMA is not on the side of the people. I believe most of our local doctors are. But their union (AMA) even opposed Blue Shield insurance originally.

Nursing Homes

Lincoln, Neb.

We have in this city a number of nursing homes which are taken care of by individuals, and they have very wonderful nurses who are on duty day and night to answer the call of the sick and helpless. Regardless of how many patients there are, all are given the same care.

I think it is wonderful that the aged in their declining years can enjoy themselves as they would in their own homes, and can sew, write, read, make quilt blocks or whatever they are competent to do.

What I can't understand is why anyone would want the city to contribute a million dollars in funds to one certain hospital which already has substantial backing and government help, when the nursing homes are just as important?

Courtesy should be offered to the aged and shut-ins so they can enjoy the best the city has to offer. Don't aged parents mean anything any more?

Individual Rights

In regard to your editorials of May 15 and May 17, does it ever occur to you that in turning down urban renewal, the people voted for something rather than against something? They voted for their constitutional right to own property and for the privacy of their homes.

There wasn't any lack of understanding of the program. The newspapers made sure of that by refusing to print but very little of anything in opposition.

The public will have confidence in the leadership of the community if that leadership shows respect for individual rights.

I'VE NEVER HAD MUCH LUCK WITH THIS LAWN--- IT JUST GROWS-- AND GROWS-- --AND GROWS--

Jolie Gabor Rates The Years After 40 The Best

By ROBERT PETERSON

I don't often run into Zsa Zsa Gabor. But I saw her strolling with her mother across a hotel lobby in Palm Beach, Fla., the other night so I walked over, hiked up my courage, and asked if she believed life begins at 40.

"I'm not in the mood to discuss geriatrics," she replied coolly. But then her mood warmed and she said, "Why not ask Mama—she admits to being middle-aged."

So I invited platinum-tressed Jolie Gabor for a cup of coffee and soon this stalwart mother of 3 dandy daughters was confiding that her years past 40 have been just great. Seems that at 40 she divorced her husband in Europe and her daughters were grown. So to shoo the blues she went into the jewelry business.

"It was one of the smartest things I ever did," she declared, "for it gave me a solid new interest and an ability to earn my own way."

"When we moved to the U.S. I started a jewelry accessory shop in New York and my girls married. They wanted me to follow suit but I felt too old for romance. Then a few years ago I met a freedom fighter my age who came to this country from my native Hungary. We fell in love like two kids and have been married 5 years. It's a deeper, more tender kind of love than I knew existed, and I'm now a firm advocate of late marriages."

I asked how she spends a typical day. "I keep my mornings to myself and devote them to self-improvement. Health is the key to beauty, and diet and exercise are the keys to health. I spend at least an hour at some kind of mild physical exercise, such as swimming or calisthenics."

"I also believe in exercising my brain and spend a couple of hours reading newspapers and current books. Too many women forget that part of beauty is mental — being intelligent and having colorful things to talk about."

"It's a great challenge to be as beautiful as you possibly can. This means eating carefully so you retain your figure, and wearing clothes and accessories that do something for you. Age often helps. When you get older you should have learned what looks good on you and how to capitalize on your best features.

"My husband handles most of the details in my jewelry business. But I spend two or three hours every day buying and testing new accessories, designing new items, and planning displays."

"Growing old isn't bad at all," she concluded, "if you've got health, love, and something to do. Of course, there's nothing so beautiful as youth. But mature beauty can be very attractive and if my daughters ever pass 40 I'm sure they will agree."

Mama Gabor's comments make a lot of sense. If more women combined their quest for beauty with solid interest in a career and self-improvement, they would probably find greater satisfaction in their later years.

The complications of getting an English title are not very well understood by Americans — though we are mightily impressed when we meet a Lord. Lordy yes.

The problems of being a Duke or a Viscount or an Earl are frightful, I imagine. And Mr. Michael Karoly is doing something about it.

Mr. Karoly is a psychologist from Budapest. He is psychoanalyzing the peerage — at least those who will get on the couch for it.

"My theory," he said, "is that most of them suffer from aristocracy neurosis. Fundamentally, they feel on the defensive against a hostile world which they believe regards them as odd."

This is a wonderful thing to know. I mean when you read in the paper that Lord Snuchleuh (pronounced Sniffles) has made an outcry to the town council about the state of gooseberries, he is reacting to what he feels is their hostility.

It gives a reasonable reason for some odd goings on. Life with Mother was nothing compared to the life of a Lord.

In spite of this hazard, many people yearn to be Lords. And they are created as fast as the Prime Minister discerns their worth. (The Queen actually does the creating. But it is largely political.)

Peerages are passed out for contributions to the Party — the same as first-class American Ambassadorships.

Lloyd George, the World War I Prime Minister, is said to have raised $9,000,000 for the Liberal Party in this way.

King James charged $30,000 for a barony, according to Anthony Sampson, who is publishing a wonderful book on the whole subject.

Up to 1958, peers were hereditary entirely. That is, when the Lord snuffed off the mortal coil, he passed the title — and the neurosis — along to the oldest boy.

Now they are creating "life peers." A life peer is a Lord while he is alive. But the aristocracy is not embarrassed by taking on his son who may not have the moxie or the money that the old man had.

Among the millionaires who were willing to be Lords and expose themselves to all these problems, Sampson lists:

A motorcar Viscount (Nuffield), two newspaper Viscounts (Rothermere and Kemsley), a soap Viscount (Leverhulme) and a beer Viscount (Younger).

Barons are listed from Unilever, Shell oil, British Petroleum, Rotes motorcars, sugar, tobacco, banker barons like Rothschild and a whole slew of whiskey and beer barons (which Sampson says is known to sniggerers as "the Beerage").

Naturally, being a Lord puts a strain on a man. And it is no wonder that Mr. Karoly wants to couch them up and write a book about it.

"They lack incentive, a vital factor in the ordinary man's life, for there is little left for them to achieve," Karoly theorizes.

"Emotionally, they are probably the least stable section of our community. They shut themselves up in their castles too much. They should mix more."

While a number of soap manufacturers yearn to be Lords, there are hereditary peer-probables who are gloomy as can be about it.

You cannot serve in the legislative House of Commons if you are a peer. You must go to the House of Lords which is pretty well stripped of power, except to make speeches. (Since they can't be fired, though, some of the speeches are wonderful.)

There are 8 men in the House of Commons (like our Congressmen) — who will be boosted, whether or no, to the House of Lords when papa pops off.

A recent new peer tried to resign his title to stay in politics.

No dice, milord, said the English courts. Once a peer, always a peer.

Sidewalk Barriers Big Problem

FOR LINCOLN'S SERVICE STATION OPERATORS

Lincoln service stations are having "serious problems from the sidewalk parking barriers," the City Council was advised in public hearings Monday.

Russell Lockwood, executive secretary of the Nebraska Petroleum Council, was spokesman for the appearing delegation of Lincoln service station operators and dealers.

Lockwood said the city is right in attempting to keep parked cars off the public sidewalk space, but said the barriers "are more a hazard than a solution for service stations."

Some Fines

He suggested "some fines would clear up the violations faster and more effectively than the barriers."

Several station operators told the council that customers have driven over the barriers and damaged their cars and tires.

Another operator reported a potential $2,000 monthly revenue loss because large semi-trucks can't get into his station's pump area because of the erected barriers.

An oil company engineer said "older stations on shallow lots" are feeling the problem more, but even the modern stations report the barriers are a hazard near their pump islands.

Keep Cars Off

Another company spokesman said "dealers should be forced to keep cars off the sidewalk area, but the parking barrier is not the solution."

Lockwood urged the ordinance be revised to "except the station area adjacent to driveways from the required barriers."

Several council members said the ordinance wasn't intended to provide parking barriers between service station pumps and the sidewalk line.

They pointed out the two-year-old ordinance was intended to require sidewalk parking barriers for commercial or business property with parking lots or areas.

Prevent Overhang
The ordinance requires barriers along private property lines to prevent parked vehicles from overhanging the public sidewalk space or parking on public property.

Indicated by the council was that changes in administration of ordinance, rather than the ordinance itself, would be made.

Later the council by a 5-2 vote approved a curb cut for a 17th and South station with provisions for parking barriers.

Rescinded

However, the permit was rescinded when it was discovered the curb cut didn't have a "temporary use and revocation clause."

Four other service station curb-cut permits were also sent back to City Engineer Carl Fisher for re-drafting.

The council was told a "city engineering oversight for the past two months had left the revocable clause out of curb cut permits."

Study Asked Of City, County Consolidation

The Lincoln Junior Chamber of Commerce's Governmental Affairs Committee Monday urged a feasibility study for consolidation of city and county functions.

A committee spokesman also suggested to the City Council that the law department review state laws for any conflicts with proposed city-county consolidations.

Mayor Pat Boyles advised the Junior Chamber that the city is discussing with the county the possibility of using some available funds for a uniform assessment program between the city and county.

First Step

"This has been indicated as a desirable first step," he explained. "Such a move must be made within the next 6 weeks if the city and county appropriations are to be used this year."

Council actions on ordinances:

-A-3 single-family zoning for proposed Wedgewood Manor First Addition between 70th and A.

All council members were present for the regular meeting.

Purchase Of A Reservoir Site Okayed

Purchase of a 16.3-acre site near 77th and Vine for future water reservoir facilities and pumping station was authorized Monday by the City Council.

The site, part of Meadow Lane Fifth Addition, is being purchased for $50,000 from the First-Continental National Bank as trustee.

The purchase price, approximately $3,000 per acre, was negotiated with Strauss Bros. Construction Co., developers of the Meadow Lane addition.

Public Works Director D. L. Erickson said no immediate construction is planned, but the "ideal site is being obtained before residential growth precludes its acquisition."

Initially, a 6 million gallon reservoir and pumping station, estimated to cost some $360,000 is planned for the site, Erickson said.

He said long-range site plans call for ultimate development of storage capacity of 30 million gallons and estimated at $2 million.

Traffic Engineer Job Is Offered To Connecticut Man

Lincoln's traffic engineer job has been offered to Robert G. Holsinger of Woodmont, Conn., by the City Council.

Holsinger is now completing a master's degree at the Yale Traffic Institute in New Haven, Conn.

Holsinger, who holds a civil engineering degree from Iowa State, is a former assistant traffic engineer at Des Moines, Ia., and Downey, Calif.

City Personnel Director Ray Ramsay said Holsinger would start at $9,000 a year, effective June 15, if he accepts the post.

The traffic engineer division, authorized in the current budget, would be under the department of public works and utilities headed by D. L. Erickson.

City Suspends Beer License

The City Council Monday suspended the beer license at the Pines Tavern at 123 No 14th for 7 calendar days beginning May 28.

Mr. and Mrs. John Wilhelm were cited as licensees in connection with a May 17 incident at the tavern.

They said a 42-year-old bartender, involved in an argument and using foul and profane language, would no longer be employed.

Also promised in the future was full cooperation with investigating police officers.

The council also noted that state liquor control commission rules prohibit a licensee or employee from drinking on his own business premises.

Lincoln Woman Treated For Auto Accident Injury

A 56-year-old Lincoln woman was treated by a physician for injuries received in a two-car mishap Monday on Q between 15th and 16th.

Police said the injured woman was Ida May Stephens of 3701 So. 15th. She was driver of a car involved in a collision with one driven by Louise D. Charon, 23, of 5202 Leighton, according to police.

Both cars were traveling east on Q, police said.

PORTELLI... cop-killer?

Suspected Triggerman Is Captured

New York (AP) — Police raided a suburban Chicago motel Monday and seized Anthony (Baldy) Portelli, wanted as triggerman in last week's slaying of two New York City detectives.

Two other bandits were positively identified during the day as accomplices of Portelli in the cop-killing last Friday during a Brooklyn holdup. They also were believed to have fled New York, and were the targets of a coast-to-coast manhunt.

Two Brooklyn detectives, flown to Chicago, teamed up with 3 detectives there to corner Portelli at the Lido Motel in suburban Franklin Park, Ill. He was seized without a struggle, using the alias J. Davis.

Portelli, 26, tattooed robber, was paroled March 27, 1961, from Auburn, N.Y., state prison.

Sought as his companions were two other paroled ex-convicts, Jerome Rosenberg, 24, and Anthony Dellernia, 34.

Curtis Hints At Billie Sol Estes' Gifts To Demos

Kewanee, Ill. (UPI) — A Republican member of the Senate Investigations Subcommittee on the Billie Sol Estes case said it appears it may be one of the biggest scandals of all time.

Sen. Carl Curtis of Nebraska said "when the full story is out, it won't be the small fry who are involved, but what the crooks call 'an inside job.'"

Curtis, speaking to the Illinois United Republican Fund Downstate Forum, said Estes cashed $40,000 in government checks in mid-January before he went to a Democratic fundraising event in Washington.

"Where did the money go?" Curtis asked. "I'm going to ask him."

Curtis said Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman said he was unaware of favoritism and the senator said "it's obvious he hasn't read the files in his own office."

Scooter Rider Hospitalized

James S. Worrest, 19, of 5144 Holdrege, was reported in satisfactory condition early Tuesday morning at Lincoln General Hospital with lacerations suffered when he lost control of his motor scooter.

Police said Worrest was traveling north on 17th when he lost control at North Side Ave. and upset.

North Platte Wants More Interchanges

Proposals for additional interchanges and access routes on Interstate Highway 80 in the North Platte area were delivered to State Engineer John Hossack Monday by a delegation of 14 North Platte officials and business men headed by State Sen. Cecil Craft.

In addition to the one projected interchange and access road leading into North Platte, the delegation presented proposal plans for two more—one east of North Platte providing access to U.S. 30 with a Platte River crossing near Brady Island, and the other west of North Platte also linked to U.S. 30.

Also discussed was the possibility of widening or improving the Jeffers Street viaduct used for access to the basic interchange already planned.

Hossack indicated that for the present, the Federal Bureau of Public Roads would be reluctant to provide funds for additional interchanges and access routes, and the state has no primary road funds available for the purpose.

He said he regarded the added eastern access route as the more feasible of the two additions proposed but estimated roughly it cost $400,000.

He said the federal government's policy is to get the Interstate built first and worry about additional access routes later.

Delegation members included Mayor A. T. Larsen, Councilman Harold Johnson, and representatives of the Chamber of Commerce and motel operators among others.

3 Oral Polio Clinics Slated At Lincoln School Buildings

Sabin oral polio vaccine will be given to Lincoln residents in various public school buildings this summer and fall.

The Board of Education agreed Monday to let the Lancaster County Medical Society use some 20 schools for administering the oral Sabin doses on 3 different dates—June 17, July 29 and Sept. 23.

The society agreed to pay the custodial costs of opening the buildings the two summer dates. Most of the buildings are normally closed in summer.

3 Types Needed
Dr. A. L. Smith Jr. said 3 days are required to administer 3 types of vaccine for as many strains of polio.

He said persons undergoing a Salk polio immunization program should continue it, along with the new Sabin vaccination.

The Salk vaccine is effective for general immunity but excludes the intestinal tract, he explained. The Sabin vaccine attacks the virus in the intestinal tract and therefore eliminates carriers of polio, doctors believe.

The charge for the treatment will be 25 cents for persons who can afford it, Dr. Smith said.

HECTOR SPENT BARE MINIMUM IN LOSING RACE

Louis H. Hector of Lincoln spent the bare minimum of $10 in his losing bid for the Republican nomination for governor in last week's primary election.

Hector reported to Secretary of State Frank Marsh Monday that his $10 filing fee was his only campaign expense.

He polled more than 5,000 votes but ran last among 3 candidates in a race won by former Interior Secretary Fred A. Seaton of Hastings.

State Sen. George C. Gerdes of Alliance reported spending $10 for his filing fee for re-nomination. In lieu of other campaign expenditures, Gerdes reported, he contributed $125 to help send the Ravenna High School band to the Seattle World's Fair.

WHAT DO 3 out of 4 DOCTORS RECOMMEND for TENSE, NERVOUS HEADACHES?

A Survey Also Reveals What Many Doctors, Themselves, Take When They Have Headache Pain.

New York, N.Y.—Medical reports confirm tense, nervous headaches are by far the most common kind and are caused by tension that presses on the nerves. But fortunately, one can get remarkable relief in minutes with a special tablet that not only relieves pain but also the emotional tension, mental fatigue and depression that usually accompany such headaches.

Tense, nervous headaches call for the stronger yet safer medication in Anacin®. A survey reveals 3 out of 4 doctors recommend the fast, pain-relieving ingredients in Anacin. In fact, many doctors themselves rely on this same type relief when they have a headache.

Anacin Tablets give fast, prolonged and—more complete relief than aspirin or buffered aspirin. You see, Anacin is different and contains special medication not found in aspirin or buffered aspirin. It's this extra medication that not only relieves pain, but also relaxes its tension and releases painful pressure on nerves.

Despite their strength and effectiveness—Anacin Tablets contain no narcotics, do not form a habit or leave one depressed. Anacin Tablets are so safe, they may be taken as directed as often as needed without upsetting or irritating the stomach.

See if the extra medication in stronger yet safe Anacin doesn't work better for you. Change to Anacin for fast, long-lasting and more complete relief.

Rehab Center Gets Fund OK

By BETTY PERSON
Star Staff Writer

The State Health Board Monday gave final approval to the University of Nebraska College of Medicine's request for Hill-Burton rehabilitation funds as recommended by the Hospital Advisory Council.

The proposed NU Medical College rehabilitation center on the Omaha campus was given the nod ahead of the request for funds for the Nebraska Orthopedic Hospital at Lincoln because the Omaha project will be ready to go under contract by June 30.

Orthopedic will not be ready until late summer or early fall, and it was necessary that $17,000 in Hill-Burton rehabilitation funds be committed by June 30 to prevent their lapsing.

Needs $100,000

The NU Omaha project will require $100,000 in Hill-Burton funds. The state now has $72,000 in this category. It will require $28,000 out of the state's next allocation to complete the Omaha project.

Both the Health Board and the Hospital Advisory Council have assured the Department of Institutions there will be sufficient funds out of the next two fiscal years to complete the proposed $250,000 addition to Orthopedic.

Fund Priority

On a related matter, Lincoln Chamber of Commerce President A. James Ebel sent a letter to the Health Board Monday asking the board's consideration and assistance in two areas termed urgent:

—Some revision in the State Hospital Plan policy to give federal Hill-Burton fund priority to a base medical area whose facilities are less adequate than those of another base medical area.

—Need for positive encouragement and counseling by State Health Department personnel in connection with Lincoln's efforts to meet its medical needs.

The board Monday approved the newly-revised state hospital plan recommended by the advisory council. The plan now goes to the U.S. Surgeon General for his approval.

Cancer Program

In other action, the board Monday approved the hiring of Dr. George E. Pickett of Morgantown, W. Va., to direct an expanded cancer control program for the State Health Department.

Dr. Pickett's salary will be paid by the Public Health Service, and the state's obligation to provide him with office space and travel expenses will come from the department's federal cancer control funds.

State Health Director Dr. E. A. Rogers said Dr. Pickett's employment would mark the first addition of a physician to the department's staff since post World War II days.

Dr. Pickett, now interning at Montreal, will report to the state in early July.

Legislative Unit Seeks 'Clerk-Aid'

Steps were taken Monday by the executive board of the Legislative Council to hire a person who would serve as assistant clerk of the Legislature during sessions, and as a research assistant to the Legislative Council between sessions.

The 4-member board authorized its chairman, Sen. H. K. Diers of Gresham, to meet with Clerk of the Legislature Hugo Srb and Legislative Council Research Director Dr. Jack Rodgers to determine the feasibility of such a plan.

Francis Robinson resigned as assistant clerk of the Legislature last winter to accept appointment as a state liquor commissioner.

The executive board indicated it wanted his replacement to be in a position to work also as a research assistant between sessions.

On another matter, the board authorized Legislative Fiscal Analyst John Quigley to hire an assistant budget analyst to help with the studies he has been requested to make prior to the 1963 Legislature.

The board also approved printing 1,000 additional copies of the Nebraska Blue Book next year to enable fulfilling the growing number of requests for the book.

The Blue Book, published by the Legislative Council every two years, is a digest of the functions of each department of state government, and contains names of state officers, biographies of elected state and national officials, and other pertinent data pertaining to state government.

A total of 2,500 copies have been printed of each edition heretofore.

Tense Nerves Block Bowels

New tonic-tablet laxative acts on colonic muscles... de-constipates overnight.

The muscular wall of your colon contains nerves known to medicine as Auerbach's Plexus. In regular people, these nerves tell the colon muscles to propel and expel waste from the body.

But tense nerves or emotional upset can block your normal bowel habits. Your colon muscle impulses are no longer strong enough to eliminate waste—which dries and shrinks, further aggravating the condition.

Relief, doctors say, lies in the non-irritating, de-constipating principle of a new tonic-tablet called COLONOID.

Only leading laxatives, only COLONOID gives you its special 3-way overnight relief for tension-caused constipation.

(1) COLONOID stimulates your colonic nerve network, to further activate and regularize its muscular "movement". (2) COLONOID's unique re-bulking action helps re-tone tense colon muscles. (3) COLONOID moisturizes for easy passage without pain or strain.

COLONOID relieves even chronic constipation overnight; is so gentle it was hospital-proved safe even for expectant mothers. Get COLONOID today. INTRODUCTORY SIZE 43¢

ADVERTISMENT

Lincoln, Columbus Firms Will Check Shelter Prospects

Contracts were awarded to Selmer Solheim, Lincoln, and R. W. Beck and Associates, Columbus, for Phase II of the national fallout shelter program. The joint announcement was made by Maj. Gen. Lyle A. Welch, Nebraska Civil Defense Director, and Col. Harry G. Woodbury, Omaha District Chief of Engineers.

The Solheim firm will survey in Lancaster, Gage and York counties. R. W. Beck and Associates will conduct a similar survey in the following counties: Arthur, Banner, Box Butte, Cherry, Dawes, Garden, Grant, Hooker, Logan, McPherson, Morrill, Scotts Bluff, Sheridan, Sioux, Thomas, Blaine, Boyd, Brown, Garfield, Greeley and Holt.

Phase II of the survey will include physical inspection of potential shelter facilities located during Phase I of the program. Cost estimates to upgrade shelters to a protection factor of 100 or greater will be included.

Asked about campaign contributions, Mrs. Brown said she bought a $25 Jefferson-Jackson Dinner ticket during the first term of the late Democratic Gov. Ralph Brooks.

A few months ago, she said,

An employee of the Department of Agriculture's Motor Fuels Division reported Monday that she was dismissed last week and indicated she believes politics may have been involved in her job termination.

Agricultural Director Pearle Finigan stated, however, that 69-year-old Mrs. Malinda Brown was retired as the result of departmental reorganization and consolidation.

Mrs. Brown, who said she is a life-long Republican, reported that she was first asked if she wished to resign. She said she told the department she did not, and was told it was either resign or receive a letter (of dismissal).

Mrs. Inez Lebsack, chief of the Motor Fuels Division, said she was taking up a non-political collection "to show our appreciation for our jobs to Gov. Morrison."

Recent Donation

"I donated my $5 as did the rest of the girls in the office except a few," Mrs. Brown said. "I did it willingly. We like Mr. Morrison as governor and he had kept us in our jobs."

In a statement late Monday, Finigan said Mrs. Brown's "recent retirement... gives us an opportunity to tell Nebraskans of the success the department has had in its reorganization and consolidation for the past 3 years."

In that time, he said, "we have reversed a trend in government spending habits in Nebraska and in most, if not all, other states. This has resulted in increased efficiency and the saving of hundreds of thousands of dollars."

"This could mean other people will be leaving the department if their services are no longer needed. I will not tolerate feather-bedding, the creation of work for people where no work exists."

Finigan said more than 50 persons have left the department since July 1, 1961.

"Of those who departed, some undoubtedly were Republicans and some undoubtedly were Democrats. Political affiliation was not the reason they left."

Cost Cuts

During the first 10 months of Gov. Frank Morrison's administration, Finigan said, cumulative monthly expenditures in the cigarette tax division were down 22% from the previous year; seed laboratory division, down 35%; gas tax refund division, down 21%, and administration of gas tax collections, down 10%.

HAROLD VOLLER IN 6-2989

In Alabama Race, Low Man Is Out

Montgomery, Ala. (P)—Pity the lot of the Alabama congressman. When he votes for himself, he must vote for 7 opponents as well.

It's all because of the low-man-out elimination contest devised by the state legislature to decide which of the 9 incumbents gives up his job when Alabama loses a seat in the House next year.

The 8 Democratic nominees will be chosen in a statewide runoff primary May 29, climaxing one of the most unusual congressional campaigns ever seen anywhere.

Because 8 will be nominated, the legislature provided in no uncertain terms that each voter must mark his ballot for 8 candidates — no more, no less. Any ballot which fails to conform will be thrown out.

That means simply that if you want to vote for the congressman who has represented your district all these years, you have to go along with 7 others.

And, as voters, the congressmen are no different. In order to vote for themselves, they must put an "X" beside the names of 7 opponents.

When the votes are all tallied, the low man on the list will be eliminated and the other 8 will be the Democratic nominees. And when the legislature tackles the redistricting problem again, the district whose congressman is weeded out next week is the most likely to be carved up.

Editor Says Khrushchev Doesn't Grasp Changes

New York (P)—Publisher Gardner Cowles, who recently interviewed Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev, says he doubts that the Russian leader fully grasps great changes sweeping the world.

Cowles, writing in Look magazine, said development of the Western European Common Market was one of the changes and that it "is something the Russians just can't fathom."

"Its fabulous growth is contrary to all the lessons of Marx, Lenin and Khrushchev," Cowles wrote. "It leaves them stunned."

"They simply can't explain how 'moribund' capitalism created this true revolution. They can't comprehend why or how we Americans give our political and financial support so unstintingly to breed this new colossus."

Cowles, president and publisher of the Des Moines Register and Tribune and president and editor of Look, enumerated these 4 other changes:

—The end of colonialism, removing a major source of friction between Western nations and new nations.

—The schism between Red China and the Soviet Union — "dividing their followers everywhere and diminishing the attractions of their ideology."

—The lack of an alternative by the United States and the Soviet Union "to find some kind of tolerable understanding of each other" because each has the power to incinerate the world.

—The United States leadership toward creating "a genuine free-world community, encompassing Western Europe, Japan, North and South America . . . a powerful magnetic attraction not only for new nations, but even for those of Communist Europe."

The publisher said the Russians know that Americans lead in atomic weaponry and that the arms race "is consuming money and talent at a fantastic rate."

"Increasingly, he (Khrushchev) finds that the strain on Soviet resources is putting him in a bind," Cowles wrote.

TV Will Honor Top Performers

Hollywood (P)—Now it's television's turn to honor its best achievements. The 14th annual Emmies will be handed out to the top talent of the 1961-62 season Tuesday night.

The winged doll, symbol of the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences, makes her yearly flight on NBC. Awards will be coming fast. There are 26 categories with multiple winners possible in many of them — 11 writers are nominated for one comedy series.

Still, the academy expects to keep the show down to 90 minutes. "We are cutting and cutting and cutting," reported producer Alan Handley.

If all goes according to schedule, never will so much talent appear so swiftly. Presenters — most of them previous Emmy winners — include Lucille Ball, Jack Webb, Fred Astaire, Nanette Fabray, Walter Brennan, Loretta Young, Jimmy Durante, Arlene Francis, Dave Garroway and Barbara Stanwyck.

The academy has also invited its No. 1 critic, Chairman Newton Minow, to appear on the telecast, as well as Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas and Leroy Collins, president of the National Association of Broadcasters.

By stimulating mass demand, advertising helped create a mass market for facial tissues. As demand grew, more and more were made. The more of them made, the less each box cost. Then, so is advertising worthwhile.

PLOT TO KILL DE GAULLE DISCOVERED; 15 NABBED

By GODFREY ANDERSON
Paris (Tuesday) (AP) — Official French sources said Tuesday a Secret Army plot to assassinate President Charles de Gaulle has been discovered and about 15 persons have been arrested in connection with it.
De Gaulle himself was safe under reinforced guard at the presidential residence, Elysee Palace, after completing a speaking tour of the provinces.
The sources identified the leader of the alleged assassin band as an Army lieutenant named Blanchy. Blanchy was arrested at his home in Paris Monday, they said, and other members of his group were quickly rounded up.
Blanchy was said to have been an aide of Roger Deguelde, a former paratrooper, who headed the Secret Army killer commandos — known as Delta groups — in Algiers. Deguelde was arrested some weeks ago.
Cat-And-Mouse Game
For several days last week the police played a deadly cat-and-mouse game with it trailed some of the suspects throughout central France, where de Gaulle was making one of his grass roots tours.
The president was finally informed of their arrest while attending mass in Limoges Cathedral Sunday morning.
The attempt would have been the second against President de Gaulle since he took over 3½ years ago. The trial of those involved in the first attempt last fall was postponed last Wednesday when word of the new plot got around, officials said.
It was understood some of those arrested had arrived in France from Algeria only a few days ago.
They were being questioned in the grim headquarters of the Surete Nationale, just around the corner from the closely guarded Presidential Palace. It was believed other accomplices were being sought.
Closely Guarded
De Gaulle did not leave his palace for any public engagements Monday. Police carrying submachine guns patrolled the boulevard alongside the high-walled palace garden.
Last mid-week as the 71-year-old president was about to leave on his 4-day tour of the provinces, an arrest was made in Algiers of a man wanted for murder of a military security officer.
The French news agency said this man revealed the existence of a new plot against de Gaulle.
Because he disclosed that the men involved already were in France, security precautions around the president were increased. The police

AMA, President's Views Compared

By United Press International
The A.M.A. Position
The basic argument of the American Medical Association and other groups allied with it in opposing the administration (King-Anderson) medicare bill is that it would be a wedge in the door leading to socialized medicine.
The AMA believes it would "serve as the forerunner of a different system of medicine for all Americans," an obvious reference to its insistence that other types of health insurance plans would follow.
These are some of the other arguments advanced against the administration proposal:
—The benefits would be limited and it is not true insurance.
—It would reduce the quality and availability of hospital services and intervene between doctor and patient in that it would destroy the "American system of medicine based upon the private doctor treating the private patient."
—It would place a huge burden on every working taxpayer by increasing his Social Security taxes, and would cover millions of elderly persons able to pay for their own needs.
—At the same time, "millions who need coverage" could not qualify.
—Private, voluntary health insurance plans which offer the aged coverage "in the full range of individual needs" would be destroyed.

Road Department Open Houses Set

The State Department of Roads reported Monday it has scheduled several open houses this week, which has been designated Nebraska and National Highway Week.
In Lincoln, the Highway Department Testing Laboratory at 14th and Burnham Sts. will be open for inspection Tuesday and Wednesday evenings.
"We will have something interesting for everybody, school children included," said Bill Carver, department materials and tests engineer.

President Kennedy said when he outlined his program for medical care for the aged under Social Security that it was not intended to be all-encompassing coverage.
He said in explaining the program to Congress that it was "a very modest proposal to meet absolutely essential needs, and with sufficient 'deductible' requirements to discourage any malingering or unnecessary overcrowding of our hospitals."
Rather than tending to destroy self-reliance of older people, he said, the program would increase self-reliance by helping the aged and their families to pay heavy health care bills that sometimes caused extreme hardship.
Under the bill, a patient would have to pay $10 a day toward the first 9 days of hospital treatment, with hospitalization for a single spell of illness limited to 90 days under the program.
There would be a $20 deductible feature for outpatient diagnostic services such as X-rays and blood tests.
There is no provision for payment of doctor's bill or for drugs not administered while in a hospital.
The President said he believes this is the most efficient and painless way of insuring health care for the aged because millions of them cannot afford private insurance. The present Kerr-Mills bill, a cooperative federal-state voluntary program, is unwieldy and also is unfair to the elderly because it requires that recipients take out a virtual pauper's oath to qualify for benefits, he contends.
Social Security taxes would be increased by one-quarter of one per cent, to a total of 3¼%, by both employees and employers, effective next Jan. 1. The rate would go up to 3¾% in 1963.
The tax base for Social Security payments would be raised from $4,800 to $5,200, which would mean a payment by both employee and employer of $150 next year compared to the present $144.

Famine Hits Dahomey
Rome (AP) — Famine in the African republic of Dahomey has affected 90,000 of the nation's 2 million population, an officer of the U.N. Food and Agriculture Organization (FAO) says. So far no deaths have been attributed to the famine, caused by failure of the grain crop. Food is being sent from the United States and elsewhere.

Civic Groups, Physicians Chart City Vaccine Clinics

"We haven't got another weapon like this against any other disease," Dr. A. L. Smith said Monday night at an organization meeting for public clinics to administer the Sabin oral polio vaccine.
Dr. Smith, president of the Lancaster County Medical Society which is sponsoring the clinics, cited the ease of administering the vaccine, its effectiveness — 95 to 97% — and the fact that there are "absolutely no side effects."
About 30 persons attended the meeting, representing PTAs, Boy Scouts, Jaycees, nurses, pharmacists, the Junior League, the National Foundation and news media.
Plans were made for the large number of volunteer workers that will be required — doctors, nurses, clerks, couriers, persons to direct traffic, etc.
About 500 volunteers will be on duty at the 20 clinics, which will be held in yet-to-be chosen schools. First clinic is to be held June 17.
Dr. Hobart Wallace, chairman of the clinics for the Medical Society, said it had been decided to have only one day of clinics for each type of polio, since each clinic could handle a maximum of perhaps 8,000 persons per day.
Still to be determined, he said, was whether to use a type of vaccine that is placed on sugar cubes or a type that would be served in a small cup of water.

T/M: TOASTED MALT
It's here! A new Storz Premium Pilsener. Brewed in a way no one has ever brewed beer before. Brewed with toasted malt: a new step in the brewing process. The result of over two years of constant research by Storz technicians. Research aimed at creating a beer both light and full-flavored. Toasting the barley malt used in brewing is a Storz discovery. Other brewers use malted barley just as it comes from the malt house. Now Storz toasts it first. Storz discovered that toasting the barley malt adds to the flavor of the brew without adding to the heaviness of the body. Storz started Operation T/M with one objective; to brew a light, refreshing beer with more flavor than light refreshing beers ordinarily have. It's easy to brew a flavorful heavy-bodied beer. Brewing a light-bodied beer with plenty of good natural beer flavor is something else. The discovery that toasting the malt would add to the flavor without adding to the heaviness of the body was the answer. We invite you to share in this discovery by trying new Storz Premium Pilsener, brewed with toasted malt. Light bodied to make it less filling, more refreshing. With robust flavor to add to the pleasure of drinking it. The first toasted malt beer is now available, in bottles, cans and glass cans—in six packs and cases.

Talk Of The Town

Came the Tuesday dawn — and a variety of news. We hear that there are guests — current and potential; we know of two young travelers — of more parties for a bride-elect — and we also know some things that we can't mention until about this time next week. So — on to the guests.

Arriving last Friday from Portland, Ore., was Mrs. Dale Boyles who will spend a few weeks as the house guest of Mrs. Carl Ganz. Complimenting the visitor Mrs. Ganz will be a luncheon hostess on Thursday when she entertains at the University Club. Our potential guests are

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Ganz who plan to come from Iowa City to spend the week end in Lincoln.

The travelers we had in mind are Bill Mowbray, Jr., who graduates in June from Southeast High School — and John Abel who completes his senior year at Shattuck early in June.

On June 14 the two boys will drive to the west coast, and from southern California will go up the coast to San Francisco where they will take off for Hawaii. After a two weeks tour of the islands they will return to San Francisco and then drive to Seattle and the World's Fair. Plans also are taking shape for stops en route home, and we understand that a popular choice is Sun Valley.

The travelers will arrive home in ample time to prepare for their freshman year at the University of Nebraska.

A day or so ago we mentioned some prenuptial courtesies for Miss Fredericka Rucklos who is to marry Antony Gerken on June 14, and among those we talked about was the luncheon for which Mrs. John C. Whitten, Mrs. Frank Williams, Mrs. Richard L. Spangler and Mrs. Thomas Wake of Seward were to be hostesses at the Lincoln Country club.

This morning we have a list of out of town guests who will attend the luncheon, and it includes Mrs. F. Scott Tuliver of Atchison, Kan.; Mrs. Frederick D. Rice of Salina, Kan.; Mrs. Emerson Adams, Mrs. N. Murray Longworth, both of Omaha, and Mrs. Leonard Skold of Kearney.

There is news from the tarmac powder crowd this morning, too — Understand that William Charles Spangler arrived on Sunday, May 20, at Lincoln General Hospital. The young man is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard L. Spangler, Jr., and his mother is the former Roberta (Bobbie) Russell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Russell — and Kappa Kappa Gamma at Nebraska. Mr. and Mrs. Richard L. Spangler are the paternal grandparents.

There is a new face in the nursery at St. Elizabeth Hospital, also, so we hear. He is John Charles Stoner who made his appearance on Sunday, May 20. The baby is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Stoner, Jr., and his mother, as you may already know, is the former Patricia Becker. John Charles has quite a group awaiting his arrival home. Calling the roll we find his four sisters, Carol, Kay, Marilyn and Margaret — and his two brothers, William Martin Stoner, III, and Tom. Dr. and Mrs. Wesley C. Becker are the maternal grandparents, and the paternal grandmother is Mrs. William M. Stoner.

News Of Club, PTA Activities

Alumnae advisors of the University of Nebraska Panhellenic Association will be hostesses on Thursday when they entertain the sorority housemothers at luncheon at the University Club.

Special guests will be Miss Helen Snyder, dean of women, and Miss Madeline Girard, Panhellenic executive director.

Following luncheon, a reading, "Art Can Be Fun," will be given by Rita Shaw.

The closing meeting of the year for Hayward PTA will be held Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the school auditorium.

Music by the school chorus will be followed by a program of slides on gardens shown by Jess Polson, president of the Capitol City Rose Society. Mrs. Verna Yakel will be chairman of the hostess committee assisted by Mrs. William Brehm and mothers of sixth graders.

The following new officers will be installed: president, Mrs. George Groh; vice president, Mrs. Al Hoffman; second vice president, Miss Thelma Myers; secretary, Mrs. Ray Porath; and treasurer, Mrs. Joe Will.

The final meeting of the year of Delta Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, was held Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Richard Johnson, outgoing president.

The group discussed project plans for the coming year and installed the following officers: Mrs. Leo Whitson, president; Mrs. Daniel Sherrick, vice president; Mrs. Robert Lind, recording secretary; Mrs. George Knudson, corresponding secretary; and Miss Jane Wachtel, treasurer.

During the social hour, the group played "Pass-word."

The May meeting of Zeta Alpha Chapter, Epsilon Sigma Alpha, was held at the home of Miss Marlene Harris.

Miss Janice Hughes received her jeweled pin, and a program, "Young Marriage Versus Divorce," was given by Miss Harris.

A Young Vocalist

MISS JACQUELYN MOWBRAY

It could be that Lincoln will have another celebrity before too many years. Miss Jacquelyn Mowbray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Mowbray is graduating just about now from Radford School for Girls in El Paso, Tex.

Just in case you didn't know Miss Mowbray is a vocalist, and recently she was presented a recital at the Radford School's Festival of Art.

Miss Mowbray's program included classics, semi-classics, songs from various of the musical shows — the "Sound of Music," for instance, and all in all showed remarkable talent (according to the El Paso papers) as a young and up and coming singer.

Miss Mowbray is to be a careerist this summer. She begins her duties at Grand Canyon Lodge on June 1, and her season doesn't close until September. We understand that in order to be accepted on the Grand Canyon staff one must be able to entertain. Judging from what we have read, Miss Mowbray has all of the requirements.

Was Hostess

Miss Frances A. Brusnam was hostess to the members of the Nebraska Alpha Chapter of Delta Theta Chi at a dessert supper and program Friday evening at the Hotel Cornhusker.

The program, a workshop on sorority music, was accompanied by Miss Catherine Gillespie, pianist.

Suburban Days Are Good Days

All suburban areas have a mutual interest these days — the gardens. Social activity, although still much in the picture, has been somewhat curtailed because of planting, fertilizing, revamping the flower beds, and rejuvenating tired lawns. So far the casualties have been few. We did hear, however, that one household is minus two family pets — The cats did a little too much research with some weed killer.

But in spite of all of the yard work we found some fun events here and there.

BISHOP HEIGHTS

At the moment the residents of Bishop Heights are watching the construction of many new homes, and we suspect they also might be wondering who the occupants will be.

In the meantime life goes on as usual for the not too many families who reside in the Bishops Heights area. And since a tea is more unusual than a coffee in this neighborhood, we'll begin with one on the late week calendar.

On Friday afternoon Mrs. Wilbur Wiedman is to be a 1 o'clock-to-4 o'clock tea hostess at her home when the guests will be the feminine contingent in the neighborhood.

It's time that we caught up with a young man in Bishop Heights who had a stag party earlier this month. He is Tim Wentz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Wentz, who was nine years old on May 6. In celebration of the events Tim entertained 12 of his masculine contemporaries at supper at his home. The affair was a baseball party, with baseball caps, and a variety of other baseball equipment, as favors.

Hear that the Wiese family — Mr. and Mrs. William — and their four children,

Jody, Sally, Tom and Bill, will spend Memorial Day in Thurmon, Ia.

KESSLER CIRCLE

For the residents of Kessler Circle Memorial Day usually is a community project which begins early and continues late. But this year no plans have been made due to the fact that some of the neighbors — the Walkers — will be out of town — and some of the neighbors — the Darringtons — will have a house full of guests. The other families are undecided as to their plans.

Mr. and Mrs. Byron Darrington will be host and hostess at their traditional family barbecue on Memorial Day when their guests will be Mr. Darrington's mother, Mrs. Izetta Darrington; his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Darrington, and their two sons; his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Glesmann and their sons, and his sister, Miss Esther Darrington, all of Council Bluffs.

The group will arrive Wednesday morning to spend the day.

COUNTRY CLUB MANOR

Right now we have news of the "Buzzin' Dozen." Actually we are a bit dubious about giving this group to Country Club Manor since its membership includes residents from several areas of southeast Lincoln. However, since our story began in Country Club Manor we'll give the area temporary possession of the Buzzin' Dozen.

The Buzzin' Dozen includes six couples who spend Memorial Day together — on the golf course. As a matter of fact the holiday begins late on Tuesday afternoon, May 29 — and it continues until Wednesday evening.

This year the activity begins with dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Morgan (bona fide Country Club Manor residents) following a bit of golf. Thursday — golf in the afternoon followed by an informal evening.

In the group, in addition to Mr. and Mrs. Morgan, are Mr. and Mrs. Jay F. Seacrest, Mr. and Mrs. Don Lehenan, Mr. and Mrs. J. Edmunds Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Burnett Roberts and Dr. and Mrs. M. C. Wieland.

Head Lakeview PTA

New officers of Lakeview PTA are (seated, from the left) Mrs. Ronald Green, president; and Mrs. Fred E. Johnson, vice president; and (in back) Mrs. John Victoria, secretary; Mrs. Calvin Demitroff and Mrs. Melvin Sherman, council representatives; and Mrs. L. G. Sieckman, treasurer.

The unit's final meeting of the year was held last week following a jitney luncheon at the school and a program on Health Day activities by the pupils.

Dear Abby Get Her To A Doctor—Quick

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have been married nearly 30 years. Our children are married and happy. We are moderately well off and can take it easy and enjoy life now. My wife has taken up with a small, radical, religious group who thinks the "end" is near. She can't bake a cake without reading the Bible. She spends hours copying verses from it. She'll go no place except to religious meetings. She tries to convert all our friends who are already non-drinking, church-going people. She is out on cloud nine and she's an entirely different person. I think she needs to see a doctor. She says she feels fine. Can you help me?
DEEPLY CONCERNED

DEAR CONCERNED: You are concerned with good reason. Your wife most certainly needs to see a doctor. Get her there, and don't delay.

DEAR ABBY: My husband has trouble with his back. He has to sleep on a special mattress which is as hard as a rock. Ever since childhood I have slept on a soft mattress and I can't get any sleep on a hard mattress. He says a hard mattress is good for everybody. What do I do now?
NO SLEEP

DEAR NO: Buy twin beds. Let HIM sleep on his hard mattress and you sleep on a soft one. A hard mattress is good for you only if you can sleep on it.

DEAR ABBY: I am in a mess. I thought I was in love and went too far. We thought we had to get married so we sent out the announcements and started with the plans. Then I found out I didn't have to marry him. I told him I didn't love him enough to marry him but he said that I "belong" to him now and I have to go through with it. Besides, he bought the rings and still owes on them. Should I go ahead and marry him and pay for my mistake?
SORRY NOW

DEAR SORRY: You would be better off to pay for the rings. Don't marry him. And I hope you learned your lesson.

DEAR ABBY: Please tell the "other woman" that if she considers herself the winner, it is all right with me. But she will soon learn that she didn't win anything. All my former worries are now hers.

Does Summer humidity play havoc with your hair? If it doesn't count your blessings. But if it does, you'll appreciate the wonder of a little fabric hat that will cover your hair rollers and look pretty, too.
Styled after the old-fashioned dust cap, it is especially handy if you're traveling. Just stuff the crown with tissue paper or soft undergarments such as slips and stockings, and pack it in your suitcase. Make it in any fabric, and trim it as you wish. If the material is white pique, try a velvet bow. A band of flowers or a small cluster of buds is always pretty. Or maybe an unadorned cap made in a print to match a dress. The one illustrated is of white silk surah with a large red coin dot print.
You'll Need: 1 yard of fabric; a 22-inch strip of round elastic; a 22-inch strip of cording.
To Make:
1. Following the diagram, fold the fabric on the bias. Cut one piece 18" x 12" for the side and brim piece, with the 12-inch side on the fold. Cut one 10-inch-long strip to cover the cording. Cut a 6-inch circle on the double thickness, as shown, if fabric is lightweight or sheer. If fabric is heavy, such as velvet, cut one circle on a single thickness of fabric.
2. Cover the 22-inch strip of cording with the bias strip, using the cording foot attachment and stitching close to the cord. Then, stitch the covered cord around the edge of the crown, with the raw edges of the crown and the cording cover even. Stitch on the original stitching line of the cording.
3. Fold the side and brim pieces in half lengthwise. On the wrong side, mark the fold. Now, join the two 12-inch ends. This seam is the center back. Turn under one

Let's say you're declarer at four spades and West leads the king of diamonds. Everything seems under control, since the probable losers are two diamonds and a spade.
However, East overtakes the king of diamonds with the ace and returns the nine of clubs. It is obvious to everyone at the table that the club is a singleton.
Apparently, East is planning to win the ace of spades at the first opportunity — he is marked with the ace by the bidding — and put his partner into the lead with a diamond in order to obtain a club ruff. If all this takes place, you go down, losing two diamonds, a spade and a ruff.
So you put on your thinking cap to see whether there is any way of escaping the trap. It occurs to you that

Cowboys Repeat

Oklahoma State's Cowboys successfully defended their Big 8 All Sports Championship title during the 1961-62 campaign.

Although the best the Pokes could do in the major sports was a second in baseball, 4th in indoor track, 5th in outdoor track and a tie for 6th in football, they won wrestling, golf and tennis to sew up another crown.

Kansas and Oklahoma tied for second in the All Sports race, while Colorado was 4th—and all gave the Cowboys a stiff battle for the championship.

Nebraska's Cornhuskers, pepped by a pair of second place track performances and surprising first divisions in wrestling, swimming and baseball, moved from the cellar to 5th place.

Using a scoring chart of 10-8-6-5-4-3-2-1, with the winner getting 10 points, here's the way the Big 8 ranked for 1961-62:

Oklahoma State	67½	NEBRASKA	44
Kansas	58½	Missouri	38
Oklahoma	58½	Iowa State	34
Colorado	58	Kansas State	29

Oklahoma made its drive with championships in outdoor track and swimming, plus second places in golf and wrestling.

Kansas' strength was supplied by flags in cross country and indoor track, plus a second in swimming and 3rds in baseball, golf and tennis.

KU Builds

Boasting an improved and well-rounded overall program, the Jayhawks would have unseated the Cowboys except for a couple of unusual windups—for the Jays, that is. KU slumped to a cellar tie in basketball and 5th place in outdoor track.

Colorado's spurt was pepped by football and basketball championships, plus a late surge that showed the Buffs moving from 6th in indoor track to 3rd outdoors and a second place in tennis.

The Buffs were the leaders in the major sports race, edging Kansas 32-29. Nebraska, with a pair of track seconds, was 3rd with 27. Here's the major sports chart:

Colorado	32	Oklahoma State	35½
Kansas	29	Oklahoma	29½
NEBRASKA	27	Missouri	24½
Missouri	26½	Kansas State	14

Nebraska's inability to battle into the first division of either football or basketball again hurt the Cornhuskers in the race for major honors.

Here's the way the Big 8 schools fared in each of the major sports:

1. Colorado	5. Iowa State	1. Oklahoma State	5. Oklahoma State
2.3. Kansas	6.7. NEBRASKA	2. NEBRASKA	6. Missouri

Titles Help—Really!

One thing is obvious, the best way to get in the All Sports race is to field a champion or two along the way. It's tough to crash the first division by shooting for second or piling up also-ran points.

Champ OSU won 3 titles, while each of the other 3 first division members won a pair of crowns. In major sport action, Nebraska was the only club among the top 4 which didn't win a blue ribbon.

NU got its boost from the track team and the baseball crew which recovered from early stumbles to grab 4th. Colorado, with 2, Kansas, Oklahoma and Missouri all got help from championships along the line.

Here are the finishes in the other Big 8 sports during 1961-62:

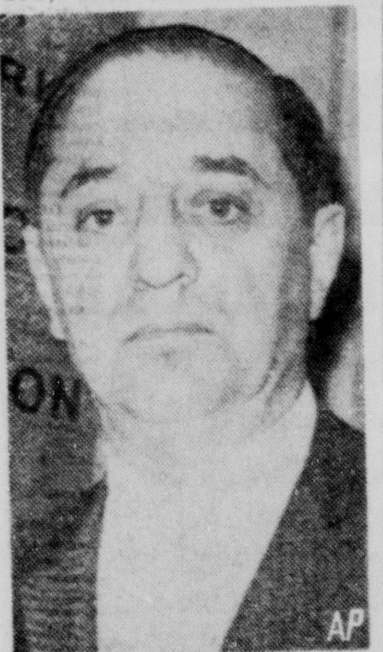

CROSS COUNTRY		GOLF

Goldstein Testifies At New York Boxing Probe

New York (AP) — Referee Ruby Goldstein told a state legislative committee Monday that he could not have acted any differently in the fight that took the life of Benny (Kid) Paret.

"He wasn't down, his two feet were firmly on the ground," Goldstein said. "The first time I saw his (Paret's) back side sit on the middle strand (of the ring ropes), I stepped in and stopped it."

A joint committee, headed by assemblyman Hayward H. Plumadore, began 3 days of public hearings Monday on whether boxing as a sport should be banned in New York state.

Before the probe began, slow motion pictures were shown of the welterweight title fight at Madison Square Garden March 24 between Emile Griffith and Paret which resulted in the death of Paret.

Hammered into insensibility in the 12th round, Paret lingered in a coma before his death from injuries April 3. The boxing probe is aimed at finding out whether negligence was involved in Paret's death, Plumadore said, and also whether the sport has been touched by criminal and underworld influences.

Goldstein, a ring official for almost 20 years, and Gil Clancy manager of Griffith, were the first witnesses to appear before the committee. Both extolled boxing as a sport and insisted that it was a ladder of success for many underprivileged boys.

Goldstein underwent extensive grilling on the Griffith-Paret fight.

In answer to a question, Goldstein said that if a towel had been thrown into the ring or if Paret's manager had stepped on the ring apron, Paret would have been disqualified.

Asked if a doctor had the right to stop the bout, the referee said, "doctors have more to say about stopping a fight than I do."

The referee was questioned on whether he thought television encouraged "blood and guts" encounters.

"I think the sponsors would like the fight to go 10 rounds to plug their products," he said.

Clancy testified about an hour before the legislative body.

He supported Goldstein, saying he believed the referee could not have stepped in any sooner because it was a championship fight and Paret "had remarkable recuperative powers."

Questioned whether they thought boxing should be banned, both Goldstein and Clancy said definitely not.

NFL WINS BATTLE WITH AFL

Roberts To Be Starter With Birds

Cleveland (AP) — Billy Hitchcock, manager of the 6th place Baltimore Orioles, shrugged off the 1-10 record last year of Robin Roberts, former Philadelphia Phillies pitching great who signed with the Orioles Monday.

"That was last year," Hitchcock said about the 35-year-old Roberts' worst season in 14 years in the major leagues.

"He's going to give us what we need badly — another starting pitcher. One starter isn't enough. You've got to have 5 or 6."

The Birds' pilot emphasized the one-time Phillies workhorse, who failed to stick with the New York Yankees during a spring trial, was in excellent condition. New York bought Roberts from the Phillies, with whom he won 234 games to become 3rd in victories among active major league pitchers. Only the Chicago White Sox' Early Wynn and Milwaukee's Warren Spahn have won more.

To make room for the veteran right-hander, the Orioles optioned rookie southpaw Art Quirk to Rochester of the International League.

Although Roberts was to join the Orioles here Monday night, Hitchcock said he would not start him in either of the two games against the Indians Monday night and Tuesday night.

Hitchcock indicated he would work Roberts into the starting rotation soon, but did not specify a date.

Winner of at least 20 games for 6 consecutive seasons with the Phillies (1950-55), when he was paid an estimated $50,000 a year, Roberts is believed to have accepted $30,000 this year from the Orioles.

Boasting an improved change-up, Roberts worked out May 11 with Baltimore and apparently impressed Hitchcock and the Oriole coaches.

Roberts joined the Phillies after less than a year in the minors. He was recordless in 5 All-Star Game appearances and 0-1 against the Yankees in the 1950 World Series. His best year was 1952 when he won 28 and lost 7.

Quirk, a 24-year-old Dartmouth graduate, compiled a 2-2 record this season while allowing 19 earned runs in 27½ innings.

Fight Postponed

Manila (AP) — The Flash Elorde-Auburn Copeland junior lightweight championship fight has been postponed one week to June 23.

An announcement said more time was needed for preparations.

The Filipino champion and the American challenger will meet outdoors at a baseball stadium here.

Arlington rode to the state high school Class B baseball crown Monday on the right arm of junior Monnie Peterson.

Peterson received credit for both state tourney wins at

Mickey Mantle Improving Quicker Than Expected

New York (AP) — Mickey Mantle's condition was so improved Monday that one club official said the New York Yankee slugger may accompany the team to Kansas City next Sunday.

Mantle, however, is not expected to return to the lineup for at least another two or possibly 3 weeks.

The 30-year-old switch-hitting star, who tore a muscle in his upper right thigh on the last play of last Friday night's 4-3 loss to Minnesota, is expected to be released from the hospital Wednesday. He will be on crutches for several days after that.

"Mickey is making better progress than expected," said Bob Fishel, the Yankees' public relations director. "I talked with him Monday and he's in good spirits. He's anxious to leave the hospital, but Dr. Gaynor (Yankee club physician Dr. Sydney Gaynor) would rather he stay there for a little longer. The important thing now is to keep Mickey off his feet."

Mantle said he had no idea when he'll be able to play again, but he added optimistically, "I'm a fast healer. I've had these tears before and I was never out too long. This one, of course, is worse than the others."

Despite the constant worry over his legs, due to an arrested case of osteomyelitis, a form of bone disease, Mantle has played a minimum of 142 games in all but one of his 10 full seasons with the Yankees. In that one (1953), he played in 127 games.

Mantle hurt himself, while trying to beat out a hard hit grounder to shortstop Zorro Versalles. He never reached the bag. Fifteen feet from first, he tumbled and began rolling on the ground, his face wracked with pain. The injury was diagnosed as "a muscular tear of the right upper thigh and the muscle involved is the adductor muscle."

Mantle also bruised his left knee in falling and this, according to Fishel, worried Mickey more than the thigh injury.

"Mickey has had chronic knee trouble," said Fishel. "He underwent an operation on his right knee after the 1951 world series and he's had to have his knees taped for every game since. The injury to the left knee was only slight, however, and Mickey says he feels no pain there now."

The Yankees undoubtedly will miss their great slugger, who has hit 7 home runs, driven in 17 runs and drawn 40 walks. He is hitting .315, a figure matched only by young Tommy Tresh on the Yankees.

Mickey's absence was sorely felt Sunday when the Yankees split a doubleheader with the Twins. His absence was one of the reasons for the comparatively low attendance figure of 27,176 at Yankee Stadium.

"The absence of Mantle from the Yankee lineup not only is bound to hurt the Yankees in the pennant race," said Minnesota club president Calvin Griffith, a spectator at Sunday's twin bill, "but it will hurt the gate everywhere the Yankees play. He's the biggest drawing card in baseball."

While Sam Mele, the Twins manager, expressed regret over Mantle's injury, he said he was glad he didn't have to worry about Mickey.

"They've got a good lineup," Mele said of the Yankees, "but when you see it without Mantle, you breathe easier ... but only a little easier. He's just so damn good, it isn't funny. He switches hits, he's the team leader, and you don't take him out for defense ..."

Ralph Houk, the Yankee manager, refused to concede that Mantle's loss is as irreplaceable as some would have you believe.

"There are some pretty good hitters on this club," he said. "I can remember them scoring a lot of runs when Mantle wasn't in. Seems like that last world series game (when Mantle was forced out of action early) we scored a few runs."

Judge Thomsen Rules NFL Is Not Monopoly

... LETS SENIOR LOOP OFF FREE

Baltimore (AP) — A federal judge ruled Monday that the senior National Football League did not have a monopoly power to restrict competition and so owes the new American loop nothing for expanding into Dallas and Minnesota.

The junior professional Major League had sought $10,080,000 in damages. It claimed the NFL, founded in 1920, possessed and used the power to exclude rivals.

U.S. District Judge Roszel C. Thomsen dismissed the monopoly claim with the statement the NFL "did not have the power to prevent or unreasonably to restrict competition."

He said the official publication of the AFL itself

"asserted that never before in the history of sports has an organization gone so far so fast."

After ruling out the charge of monopoly, Judge Thomsen said the question remaining was whether the NFL had conspired against the new league by granting franchises in Dallas and Minneapolis-St. Paul to increase from 12 to 14 members.

He opined the AFL was entitled to no relief on that score either.

The NFL announced in January, 1960, it was expanding to Dallas and plans to start in Minnesota the next season.

The AFL previously planned to start functioning in 1960 with teams in Dallas and Minnesota. Prospective Minnesota backers pulled out when the NFL franchise was offered. The AFL substituted Oakland, Calif.

Judge Thomsen decided the NFL Dallas franchise was activated in 1960 "for business reasons ... to start at the same time as the AFL team."

The move "undoubtedly has been costly to the AFL team and may have prevented attendance at some of the games there from passing the guarantee point (for visiting teams)," Judge Thomsen stated.

But he noted that "interest in and attendance at both the NFL and AFL games in Dallas has been disappointing, and may indicate that the city is not as good a location for a professional football team as was generally believed."

The AFL claimed it was injured because it was forced "to substitute an inferior Oakland franchise for a more desirable franchise in Minneapolis" and its 7 other members had to stock the California entry with players.

"The first of these propositions is doubtful," Judge Thomsen found. "Whatever injury there may have been was contributed to by the unskillful handling of the Oakland arrangements." He saw no reason why the Oakland club will not succeed once a new stadium is finished.

He said the transfer of players was offset by acquiring star players which had been drafted for Minneapolis.

Judge Thomsen also doubted if an AFL team in Minneapolis would have had comparable success to the NFL entry a year later.

Judge Thomsen in ruling out the NFL power of monopoly said the AFL had no difficulty finding owners for franchises in New York and Los Angeles "and had applications for several other NFL cities."

He felt inclined to agree the NFL if it wanted could force the AFL out of a city except such as New York and possibly "Dallas and Houston where rich owners are determined to fight it out." But he said there was no evidence the older league ever contemplated more than 16 teams.

Wally Hopp of Hastings, veteran Nebraska golfer, defeated Dean Wilson of Council Bluffs, Ia., in a sudden-death playoff Monday to take top honors in the local qualifying round for the U.S.G.A. Open tournament at the Lincoln Country Club.

Both Hopp and Wilson came in with identical 75-76 —151 totals for the 36-hole qualifying. Hopp birdied the first hole in the sudden-death playoff to gain the top qualifying medal.

Hopp, Wilson and Gene Johnson of Fremont, who came in with a 153, will represent this area in the U.S. Open.

Gusty wind and deep rough, plus the famed LCC narrow fairways combined to give the 17 aspirants fits.

Four 75s in the morning session—Hopp, Johnson, Billehus and Wilson—were the low rounds of the day and even LCC veterans ran into trouble.

Matt Taber, for example, soared to a 163 on rounds of 83 and 81, far off his usual pace.

Alternates for the 3 Open spots from this area are Sam Alexander of Council Bluffs, Ia., who carded a 157, Ed Taber, Jr. of Lincoln, who was 5th with 158, and Dick Billehus of Grand Island, who had a 159.

The results:

Ed Taber, Jr., Lincoln	80-78—158
Dick Billehus, Grand Island	79-84—159
Matt Zadalis, Omaha	82-78—160

Romano Homer Tops Orioles

Cleveland (P) — John Romano drilled a 3-run homer with two out in the 9th inning Monday night to power the league-leading Cleveland Indians to a 10-7 victory over the Baltimore Orioles. Seven homers were hit in the wild contest.

The Indians had jumped off to a 7-0 lead after 3 innings, but the Orioles bounced back on a pair of homers by Jackie Brandt, and solo blasts by Jim Gentile and Russ Snyder, plus a two-run triple by Brooks Robinson.

Romano, who earlier had rapped a pair of run-scoring doubles, picked on southpaw Billy Hoek's (0-3) first pitch. The home run gave Romano 5 runs batted in and broke a major league mark as the Indians have hit 28 homers in 9 straight games.

Don Dillard and Woodie Held also homered for the Indians, who grabbed a half-game advantage over the New York Yankees, who were idle Monday night.

The triumph went to Gary Bell (3-3), who struck out the side in the 9th inning. He was Cleveland's 3rd pitcher. Baltimore used 5 hurlers.

Dodgers Clobber SF, 8-1

Los Angeles (P) — Sandy Koufax scored his 5th victory with a 5-hitter and Tom Davis drove in 3 runs with a homer and double Monday night as the Los Angeles Dodgers defeated San Francisco, 8-1, before 45,192.

The Dodgers, who had lost 3 straight, now trail the league-leading Giants by 3½ games.

Koufax, who hadn't won since April 28, pitched his 4th complete game and struck out 10 while walking only one. This was the 33rd time in his career he had fanned 10 or more in a single game.

Tom Davis, something of a Giant killer in the early going, brought in the first two Dodger runs with a 400-foot homer off Billy O'Dell in the 4th inning. Willie Davis was aboard with a single.

In the 6th, Jim Gilliam reached second when his line drive was booted by leftfielder Harvey Kuenn. He scored on Tom Davis' second double of the game.

Orlando Cepeda accounted for the only Giant run with a 400-foot homer in the 7th. It was his 12th and put him in a tie with Vada Pinson of Cincinnati for the National League home run lead.

The Dodgers, who got only 4 hits off O'Dell in 6 innings, touched reliever Don Larsen for 6 hits and 5 runs in the 8th. Maury Wills, pinch hitter Duke Snider, Ron Fairly, Larry Burright and Koufax all hit singles in the big inning and Willie Davis had a double. Wills scored the first run of the inning after stealing his 19th base in 20 attempts.

Groat, Virdon Spark 8-4 Win By Pirates

Pittsburgh (P) — Dick Groat and Bill Virdon each had 4 hits and drove in 3 runs apiece for Pittsburgh Monday night as the Pirates defeated the Chicago Cubs 8-4.

Groat's single in the 5th inning drove in Virdon with what proved to be the winning run. Virdon had doubled.

The Cubs scored 3 times in the first. Bill Williams drove in one run with a double, Ernie Banks scored another on a sacrifice fly and the third came in on a wild pitch.

The Pirates grabbed the lead in the second. Bill Mazeroski's double, which went through an opening in the left field scoreboard, drove in two runs and Virdon batted in another pair with a single.

Ron Santo singled home the 4th Cub run in the third. Groat, who has now hit safely in 13 straight games, drove in single runs in the 7th and 8th and Virdon also batted in one in the 8th.

Tom Sturdivant, the winning pitcher, entered the game in relief of Earl Francis with two out in the third and held the Cubs scoreless the rest of the way.

White's homer, his 6th, came in the 6th following the last of Bennett's 5 walks.

Wynn Blasted Early As Tigers Win, 7-3

Chicago (P) — Homers by Rocky Colavito and Chico Fernandez in a 5-run first inning that kayoed pitcher Early Wynn launched the Detroit Tigers to a 7-3 victory over the Chicago White Sox Monday night.

Wynn, seeking his 295th career triumph and third of the season, was pinned with his 3rd defeat. He served 5 hits and a walk before Ed Fisher was summoned to retire the side. Colavito's 4th homer came with two aboard and Fernandez' 4th was a solo.

Luis Aparicio bashed his second homer of the season for two Sox runs in the second inning.

Al Kaline swelled his American League runs-batted-in lead to 36 with a couple on a pair of singles. Billy Bruton collected two doubles and 3 singles in five trips.

Paul Foytack lasted 7 2-3 innings on a yield of 6 hits to boost his record to 2-1. He issued 8 walks, 4 of them to Joe Cunningham.

Met's Rally Falls Short In Ninth

Houston (P) — Jim Pendleton's pinch pitch and the 7-hit pitching of Jim Golden led the Houston Colts to a 3-2 victory over the New York Mets Monday night.

Pendleton opened the 8th for the Colts with his triple off left-handed reliever Vinegar Bend Mizell, and Roman Mejias brought in the winner with a sacrifice fly to center. Mizell had replaced Met starter Dave Hillman in the third, when the Colts scored twice for a tie.

The Mets, who had won 3 straight and 9 of their last 12 starts, scored their two runs in the second. Singles by Frank Thomas and Charlie Neal, Sammy Taylor's sacrifice fly and an error figured in the scoring.

Don Buddin's triple leading off the Houston 3rd started the Colts rolling. He scored on Golden's ground out, then Al Spangler singled, stole second and scored on Billy Goodman's single.

The Mets staged one of their patented rallies in the 9th, getting singles from Taylor and pinch batter Richie Ashburn with one out. But Hobie Landrith fouled out and Elio Chacon fled to center for the last out.

A's Bump Red Sox In Style

Boston (AP)—Kansas City slugged Boston into submission 10-4 Monday night in a game which saw Jerry Walker and rookie battermate Jose Azcue hit home runs.

Walker surrendered 11 singles and Ed Bressoud's homer en route to his 5th triumph while getting plenty of support from his power-hitting mates. Right-hander Walker also singled in his own cause, scored 3 times and raised his batting average to .346.

Walker's homer was his third of the season.

Jerry Lumpe paced the Athletics' 14-hit attack by driving in two tallies with a double and two singles.

Manny Jimenez, who entered the game as the American League's No. 2 hitter, raised his average one point to .371 by doubling and singling in 5 trips. Dick Howser and Norm Siebern also had two safeties each.

Boston's Gene Conley was charged with the loss, the 7th straight for the Red Sox.

Detroit Optimistic Over Patterson - Liston Fight

... LISTON SHOULD RECEIVE LICENSE

Detroit (AP)—State boxing commissioner Dave Gudelsky indicated Monday he would welcome the proposed Floyd Patterson-Sonny Liston heavyweight title showdown here.

"But we're not going to let anyone call the shots," Gudelsky said in an apparent reference to Patterson's manager Cus D'Amato.

Patterson and D'Amato were expected to arrive here Monday for talks with local promoters Leon Saddler and Elisha Gray while Gudelsky said he would come to Detroit from his home in Muskegon to examine plans for the bout.

"I'm pretty sure we'll give Liston a license," Gudelsky said, adding that he didn't "condone some of the things he's done." He said he wanted "to check a few things with Liston before we issue a license."

The bout was first set for New York but Liston's police record kept the state's boxing commission from issuing a license.

But the man Gudelsky's most interested in seeing isn't expected to be in town Monday.

Some of the shots Gudelsky plans to call on any title bout held in the state include enforcing Michigan's new 90-second rule. He also said a doctor could enter the ring at his discretion at any time during the bout, not only during rest periods.

The new state rules were made following the ring death of Benny (Kid) Paret in New York earlier this year.

Gudelsky said he also would insist on a Michigan referee and judges.

Saddler and Gray have posted a guarantee of $750,000 to stage the fight here, Patterson taking $500,000 and Liston $250,000, Saddler said.

The pair were confident the fight would be held here.

Saddler said tentative agreement had been reached for rental of Tiger stadium on Sept. 17, with the following 3 days available should it rain.

"Everything has been taken care of except some of the financial details," Saddler said. "If we can iron out the money part of it, that's it."

Patterson and D'Amato, who has final word on the site, were expected to iron out details with the promoters.

Gudelsky denied reports the fighters had been granted licenses to fight in Michigan.

"I haven't heard from either of the fighters or their managers," he said. "Nothing concerning this fight is on paper now."

Senate Probe Into Estes Case Starts

Washington (UPI) — Senate investigators Monday opened an inquiry into the tangled affairs of Billie Sol Estes by questioning an Agriculture Department official who says the Texas promoter was shown favoritism by the government.

The official, N. Battle Hales, was interviewed in the office of Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., chairman of the investigating subcommittee. Hales declined to divulge to reporters what he told the inquiry.

Hales was transferred from investigative duties to another post after charging that the Agriculture Department was partial to Estes in cotton allotment awards.

The subcommittee announced no witness list for its first day of closed-door hearings. Public sessions will be held later in what could be the most politically potent investigation in years. Estes himself, under indictment on fraud charges, has been subpoenaed.

It was learned that another witness questioned Monday was Walter C. Berger, a former official of the Eisenhower administration and now an executive of Commercial Solvents Corp., involved in business dealings with Estes.

The subcommittee has promised to get at the root of any wrongdoing by government officials. President Kennedy and Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman have said evidence so far shows the 37-year-old financier received no favoritism.

Four government officials have lost their jobs in the far-ranging case — either being dismissed or quitting under fire.

As the investigation opened, First Federal, with assets of about $100 million, employs about 100 people. In addition to the Lincoln office, First Federal operates two branches in Omaha.

Property was purchased from the Lutz estate for an estimated $150,000. The site, about 300 feet square, is bounded on the north by Cotner Terrace and on the south by a service station and the American Legion Club.

assistant Democratic leader Hubert H. Humphrey, Minn., asked the Senate to consider Kennedy's farm program without entangling it in the Estes matter.

ABBY ON MARRIAGE:

Who Should Handle The $$$?

Biblical scholars may dispute me, but I have a hunch that the forbidden stuff in the Garden of Eden was lettuce! The folding kind. If money is not the root of all evil, I will nominate it as the most potent fertilizer.

Who should handle the $$$? That depends. Some husbands can't be bothered. Others wouldn't know how to be bothered. There's no law that says husbands must control the family Fort Knox. If the wife has the dollar sense — plus a husband who doesn't know how to manage money — then she should get the nod as guardian of the household treasure. In many homes the hand that rocks the cradle also cradles the rocks.

But one principle must guide the handling of money; all assets must be considered the property of both parties! This isn't a recommendation for unrestricted joint checking accounts (in some hands a checkbook can be dangerous). But both parties should agree on how the money should be spent, and they should regularly check their balances and canceled checks together. This is real "togetherness" — a sharing of interest and responsibility that draws marriage partners closer together. For the same reason, no husband is justified in concealing money matters from wives like this one:

DEAR ABBY:
How do you approach the subject of money with your husband? We've been married for over a year and I don't know how much he makes or even how much rent we pay. I never see any of the bills. He tells me not to open them. He takes all the bills and pays them. I get an allowance for spending money, and it is more than enough so I save a little. The other day he asked me to sign a paper stating he was taking out a $1000 loan. I don't know what he needs a loan for. We are supposed to have money in the bank. When I ask questions about finances he tells me not to worry. But I worry, anyway. Do you think that a wife should know something about the financial situation in marriage?

In The Dark

"In the Dark's" husband needs to be enlightened before someone pulls the switch in that confused household. A wife should always know what comes in, what goes out and why and where. One way to keep marriage off the rocks is not to hide too many things under them.

A budget? Yes! Nothing that requires an IBM computer, understand, but allotting specific amounts to each general area of spending.

One final word about "personal" allowances. They are vital! Both husband and wife should have one. I don't mean for clothes and items that are vital necessities—I mean personal . . . to spend where and as they please, with no questions asked and no accounts to be rendered. Love and the human spirit need breathing space.

It's especially degrading for a wife to have to ask her husband for money for bobby pins, nylons or cologne. Besides, if she's like most wives, she's probably stashing a little huddle in the sugar bowl so she can buy her husband something special for Christmas!

(Condensed from the book "Dear Abby On Marriage.")
